The main accused, Nithin, was admitted to the centre 16 months ago. After gaining Shivalingaiah's trust, he started working as incharge of the centre. P7

Footpath walk a fundamental right, rules SC

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

IN a significant judgment, the Supreme Court on Friday said the right to walk on a demarcated footpath is a fundamental right, and must take precedence over the movement of motorised vehicles.

The right to walk is part of the right to movement guaranteed under Article 19 (1)(d) and other fundamental rights including Article 21 (Right to life and liberty) of the Constitution, said a bench of justices P S Narasimha and A S Chandurkar. The fundamental right to walk will take within its sweep the right to demarcated footpaths, it added.

The court was deciding an appeal in a motor accident claim, where a tanker mowed down a 5-year-old who was on his way to school along with his dad. While the father filed a compensation claim for ₹25 lakh, the Motor Accidents Claim Tribunal awarded ₹7.82 lakh with 6% interest; a high court cut the compensation to ₹4.7 lakh; and the SC raised the payout to ₹11.4 lakh.

Stressing the necessity to establish a regulatory body, the court said the regulator will develop and retain institutional memory so as to act on the basis of the experience, data and information it has gathered and processed.

Jio enters satellite race, to launch LEO network for India

India's largest telecom operator plans to set up sovereign constellation, take on Musk's Starlink

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

IN a move that could put it in direct competition with Elon Musk-led Starlink and other global satellite internet providers, Reliance Jio on Friday announced plans to enter the satellite communications sector by developing a Low Earth Orbit (LEO) satellite constellation for India.

Akash Ambani, chairman of Reliance Jio Infocomm and managing director of Jio Platforms, said the company is looking at developing its own LEO satellite constellation and may also partner with global satellite operators.

The announcement is significant as Jio is India's largest telecom operator and one of the world's largest mobile service providers by subscriber base.

"Jio connected India on the ground. Now, we must connect India from the skies. There are still remotest villages, island communities, and border outposts where the Jio network cannot reach. For them, satellite connectivity will be the bridge to the rest of India," said Akash Ambani while speaking at Reliance Industries' 49th annual general meeting on Friday.

The company is also setting up its own ground stations in India, which will act as links between satellites in space and users on the ground. These stations will support both satellite networks operated by Jio's global partners and any future satellites launched by Jio itself.

LEO (Low Earth Orbit) satellites operate much closer to the Earth, usually between 160 km and 2,000 km above the surface. Because they are closer, they can provide faster internet speeds and lower delays than traditional communication satellites, making them ideal for broadband services.

Reports said the firm has submitted plans to the Indian National Space Promotion and Authorization Centre to set up 1,650 satellites.

Starlink currently leads the global satellite broadband market with 10,634 active satellites serving 12 million customers. Amazon's Project Kuiper has 367 satellites in orbit, while Bharti Enterprises-backed Eutelsat OneWeb operates 654 satellites.

Jio has already partnered with Luxembourg-based SES to offer satellite broadband services in India. However, SES mainly operates geostationary and Medium Earth Orbit satellites and does not have a LEO satellite network. P15

Temporary Telegram ban legit: Delhi HC

Message editing feature

Telegram's message-editing feature could be misused to falsely suggest that exam papers had been leaked before the exam, Delhi High Court judge Tejas Karia said

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Delhi High Court on Friday upheld the ban on Telegram messaging app ahead of the June 21 NEET-UG re-exam, observing that the order was not disproportionate in an emergency situation.

A vacation bench of Justice Tejas Karia said the Centre's order was "least restrictive" option on the table.

The platform's architecture is conducive to amplification and mass dissemination of content. "Any unlawful content, if circulated on Telegram, is capable of being amplified rapidly and likely to give rise to a public order situation," the judge noted.

Telegram also hosts an extensive bot ecosystem for automated dissemination of content. "As a result, illicit activity may resume within a short period notwithstanding takedown action against the original channel," he added.

Besides, the app permits messages and files to be edited at a later point in time, which could be exploited to mislead the public, he observed. P11

Vinesh turns to international events

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

A few weeks after renowned wrestler Vinesh Phogat was not allowed to compete at the National Open Ranking Series, she has turned her attention to international competitions. The double world championship medallist, who had to seek court intervention to compete in the Asian Games trials last month, has written a mail to the Sports Authority of India requesting them to submit her name for international competitions in July and August.

In her mail, which was also copied to the WFI, Vinesh requested to submit her entry in the 53kg for three upcoming events — Grand Prix of Spain (July 10-12), Polyak Imre, Varga Janos & Kozma Istvan Memorial Ranking Series in Budapest, Hungary (July 15-19) and Poland Open in Warsaw (August 26 to 30). She also said that she would bear the entire cost of all three competitions along with her support team comprising four individuals including her new-born son and husband-cum-coach Somvir Rathee. Interestingly, the last date of submission of entries for the first two tournaments already expired as WFI has not responded to Vinesh's request.

It was also learnt that the SAI is silent on this. "We are not sending teams for the Spain and Poland events. As for Ranking Series, we have already sent entries of three wrestlers in the 53kg as a national federation can field three grapplers in one category," said a top WFI officials.

Entries can be sent by federation

According to WFI, it's the prerogative of the federation to send entries and the WFI sent entries of those wrestlers, who have been competing in various events including nationals for the past few months

PINK LINE ELEVATED SECTION BY AUG, FULL CORRIDOR BY MARCH '27

KBG expresses concern over repeated failure to meet deadlines

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

DEADLINES for key stretches of Namma Metro's Pink and Blue Lines have been pushed once again, with the elevated section of Pink Line now targeted for August, the underground section for March 2027, and major Blue Line stretches extending into 2027, raising concerns over the repeated failure to meet announced timelines.

After the review meeting with the Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL), Bengaluru Development Minister Krishna Byre Gowda on Friday said that the elevated stretch of the Pink Line from Kalena Agrahara to Tavarekere is expected to open by August 15, while the underground section up to Nagawara is slated for completion by March 2027.

He also stated that trial runs on the Blue Line from KR Pura to Marathahalli and HSR Layout are targeted for October 2026. The Hebbal-Airport section is expected to become operational by June 2027, with the KR Pura-Hebbal stretch targeted for completion by December 2027. He expressed concern over Namma Metro's repeated failure to meet project deadlines and said that by 2028 with the new deadlines the total operational metro network is expected to expand to 175 kms.

Delays of one or two years are inexplicable and this culture must change
– Krishna Byre Gowda

The minister also informed that approval from the Government of India for the Phase 3 (Orange Line) Double-Decker Corridor Project is awaited, expressing confidence that the required approvals may be received within the next few weeks, following which BMRCL would initiate the tendering process.

The minister said that while Metro agencies enjoy considerable autonomy, it must be accompanied by accountability. "Delays of one or two years are inexplicable and this culture must change. This is an engineering job-if something is possible, it is possible, nothing is impossible. We need concerted effort, vendor coordination and parallel execution wherever feasible. Officials must stop saying it cannot be done, instead find solutions, and the system must respond to people's aspirations and improve the pace of work, prioritising service to Bengaluru citizens," he said.

Stressing the need for better worksite management, Byre Gowda directed BMRCL officials to ensure that only the minimum required land is occupied for construction activities to reduce traffic congestion and inconvenience to the public. He also instructed officials to maintain cleanliness around Metro work sites, adopt scientific debris disposal practices, and improve housekeeping standards.

BELLANDUR STP INCIDENT

BWSSB panel to submit report today

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

BWSSB has formed a three-member committee to probe the suspected death of two persons from Tamil Nadu and Bihar at its sewage treatment plant (STP) in Bellandur on Thursday.

KN Rajeev, chief engineer, KS Renukumar, assistant chief engineer, and Vinuta DS, deputy chief engineer, are the committee members. They have been asked to submit a report by Saturday noon.

BWSSB officials said Akhilan, 29, and Karthik, 25, from Tamil Nadu, and Akhilesh, 30, from Bihar, who were hired for cleaning work, might have accidentally fallen into the 40-foot sewage pumping wet well at the 90 MLD Bellandur wastewater treatment plant.

They said while Karthik managed to come out of the wet well and was later shifted to a nearby hospital, Akhilan and Akhilesh are suspected to have drowned. An operation to trace them is on. Around three metres of silt accumulated in the wet well is said to be hindering the rescue operation.

In January, Preetham, 14, a student, accidentally fell into an uncovered pipeline network at TK Halli in Kaggalipura police limits. The police filed a case against BWSSB after the decomposed body of the boy was found in a sump linked to the pipeline network on February 1.

NDRF continues search for two workers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

FIRE and Emergency Services and National Disaster Response Force (NDRF) personnel continued the search operation till late on Friday night to retrieve the bodies of two outsourced workers of the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB), who fell into a 40-foot-deep sewage treatment plant (STP) tank at Balegere under the Varthur police station limits on Thursday evening.

A senior police officer said the rescue operation was being severely hampered by poisonous gases inside the tank and high water pressure. Officials have been instructed to expedite the operation and retrieve the bodies.

Rescue teams are filling the tank with oxygen to remove the toxic gases. "As soon as the oxygen level is increased and the toxic gases are cleared, the NDRF team will enter the tank and continue the search operation," the officer said.

The officer added that the incident occurred around 6 pm on Thursday when three workers entered into the over 40-foot-deep sewage treatment tank, known as the pumping wet well, to carry out repair work. One of the workers, Karthik, managed to come out using a rope and alerted officials, while Akilan and Akhilesh drowned in the water.

Karthik was rushed to a nearby hospital and is undergoing treatment.

Officials told to address civic issues in west corpn limits

Bengaluru West City Corporation (BWCC) Commissioner Dr KV Rajendra and Malleswaram MLA Dr Ashwath Narayan reviewed the progress of work on various development projects and discussed ward-related issues in Malleswaram assembly constituency on Friday. After receiving information from the corporation officials, they issued directions to ensure proper maintenance of streetlights and footpaths, garbage clearance, and address civic workers' (pourakarmikas) problems. Dr Rajendra directed the officials to get the roads and drains cleaned by deploying adequate pourakarmikas. Dr Narayan said the officials should act against shopkeepers and citizens who dump garbage on vacant sites and at street corners. On dry waste collection, Dr Narayan stressed the need for proper segregation at the source itself. The commissioner directed the officials to ensure that waste segregation is done before its collection. They discussed proposals such as widening of Sankey road, Ballari road, Mysore Lamps Factory road, Gali Anjaneya Temple-Triveni roads, and the free-left road from Yeshwanthpur Circle. On the individual house scheme (onti mane yojane), the MLA said approval should be granted for the 2024-25 annual plan. Beneficiaries should be informed about it and new applications invited for 2025-26 and 2026-27. ENS

Horoscopes By Holiday

HOLIDAY MATHIS

20th June : Spring's Last Day The last day of spring carries the feeling of a held breath. Tomorrow the sun reaches its great crescendo, but today remains suspended between preparation and arrival. On this final day of the season of planting, notice what tender blossom has grown in you. Summer asks you to unfurl completely, to live it out loud.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You notice everything, including how people are dressed and what it says, clues they leave about where their affections lie and other evidence of their inner worlds. You'll use what you learn for mutual benefit.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20)
What you're doing is working pretty well. Even small changes could affect the good results you're getting, so don't switch things up carelessly or just because you're restless. If you do decide to make a change, think it through first instead of acting impulsively.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 21)
As much as your nearest and dearest want to help you, familiarity often come with a kind of blindness. Those close to you sometimes miss what perfect strangers see right away. An observant outsider will help you.

CANCER (June 22 - July 22)
You know what you want, you just don't know how to get it. Luckily the "how" will take care of itself as you go. Start telling people your intention and ask for advice. Also, you can quickly get knowledge from books and videos that took others years to acquire.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)
In the past you showed up strong for a friend. You'll do it again today and again in the weeks to come, demonstrating that your mere presence often matters more than many other ways of giving your love.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)
Your sense of humor will help you handle frustration. You'll laugh at the weirdness of life, and annoying moments lose their power. Finding the funny side of things keeps small frustrations in their proper perspective -- tiny enough to blow off.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 23)
The attention and care you give to others today will sharpen your awareness of energy. You notice which interactions restore you, which routines deplete you and which supports actually help. Sustainability matters; protect your own stability over time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 21)
You're willing to let someone you trust lead you somewhere new. And it's OK to bring someone new into your familiar territory. But don't let an unknown person show you unfamiliar territory. Good and safe experiences involve a mix of old and new.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)
You know what you want and need. If someone has to persuade you to do something, it's probably not for you. You'll save everyone time and energy by saying no before they start their pitch.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)
There's family you're born to and family you find. Found family dynamics remind you that the people who consistently show up, protect your spirit and understand your oddities often become family in the ways that matter most.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
It will benefit you to reiterate your belief in the flow of life. Think of yourself as a divining rod for everything you need to be your best self. You must only act on your intuition to be lucky.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar 20)
Conflict is rarely about the subject of the argument. But how can you find the soul of it? We don't understand the fight within until it's projected outwardly. Feelings and fears are revealed before we fully understand them.

State freezes ₹436cr in cyber fraud cases, Maha tops in crackdown

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA has emerged as the second best performing state in the country in freezing money lost to cyber fraud, with police successfully blocking Rs 436crore through bank lien marking mechanisms, Home Minister Priyank Kharge said on Friday.

Speaking after reviewing cybercrime response systems at the Police Wireless Headquarters on MG Road, Kharge said the state has intensified efforts to combat the growing threat of cybercrime through advanced technology, dedicated teams and improved public grievance mechanisms. Karnataka police managed to freeze Rs 436crore, accounting for 17 per cent of Rs 2,640crore reported lost to cyber fraud. Maharashtra topped the list by freezing Rs 548crore of Rs 3,203crore reported losses, also amounting to 17 per cent.

Between January and May 2026, the Police Wireless Unit received 10.33 lakh calls and registered 90,225 complaints. During the same period, people lost Rs 807crore to cyber fraud, of which Rs 216crore has already been blocked.

He added that Karnataka police have adopted several measures to accelerate cybercrime investigations and recovery of defrauded money. Dedicated bank follow-up teams have been formed to immediately initiate lien marking of suspicious transactions and coordinate with financial institutions. To strengthen cybercrime response, wireless personnel have been trained in cyber investigations, system administration and use of the Indian Cyber Crime Coordination Centre (I4C) platform. Special liaison officers have also been appointed to coordinate with banks, obtain CCTV footage, facilitate FIR registration and assist victims in recovering blocked funds. Additionally, 51 PSIs and Head Constables have been deployed on the I4C platform to expedite the blocking of fraudulent bank transactions.

The minister highlighted a series of technology-driven reforms introduced by the department. These include a web-based complaint bot launched in 2025, a WhatsApp complaint bot introduced in 2026, which have significantly improved public access to cybercrime reporting and an Interactive Voice Response System (IVRS) that prioritises and routes complaints automatically. Automated complaint links are also sent to callers whose calls get disconnected.

Kharge said Karnataka has become a national leader in tackling cyber fraud and protecting citizens' hard-earned money, while stressing the need to further modernise the police wireless communication system with advanced technology.

Kharge stressed the need for greater awareness, stronger resilience and coordinated efforts to tackle emerging digital threats. ENS

CID inspector, 2 more held for ₹20L robbery

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Madiwala police have arrested three persons, including a Criminal Investigation Department (CID) police inspector, for allegedly assaulting and robbing a Kerala-based businessman of Rs 20 lakh in cash. The accused are Kupendra Reddy, Vasanth Kumar, and CID Police Inspector Mahesh Kanakagiri.

Police said, Junish Babu A K (40) from Kerala along with two friends arrived in Bengaluru on June 15 and was staying at White Stone Lodge in Madiwala. One of his friends, Naveen, had informed him about an investment opportunity in trading that promised high returns. Acting on the proposal, Junish had brought Rs 20 lakh in cash to Bengaluru.

The police said the accused, who were aware that the victim was carrying a large amount of cash, allegedly went to the hotel room on Thursday night posing as police officers. They threatened the victim, accusing him of being involved in an illegal money-trading business, and questioned him about carrying such a large amount of cash. The accused allegedly assaulted the victims before fleeing with the cash. The police said the CID inspector allegedly sat outside the hotel in a police jeep in police uniform to intimidate the victims and create an impression of an official police operation.

A senior police officer added that the victim approached the Madiwala police station early on Friday and filed a complaint. A case was registered for dacoity, criminal intimidation, assault, and criminal conspiracy, and an investigation was launched. The trio was traced and arrested on Friday afternoon.

CROSS-VOTING AFTERMATH

BJP brass summons state leadership to Delhi

BYV, Ashoka, party state in-charge Radha Mohan Das Agarwal told to be in national capital on June 23

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

Upset over cross voting by its MLAs in the Thursday's election to the Legislative Council, the BJP high command has reportedly summoned state unit president BY Vijayendra, Leader of Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka, and state in-charge Radha Mohan Das Agarwal to New Delhi on June 23.

According to sources Vijayendra is likely to reach New Delhi on Sunday itself.

Union Minister and JDS state president HD Kumaraswamy is also upset over the BJP state leadership for the humiliating defeat of his party (NDA) candidate in the election.

Notably, 11 MLAs from BJP and JDS cross voted, which resulted in the humiliating defeat of the JDS candidate. Five Congress candidates polled 151 votes though it had the backing of only 140 MLAs. The BJP, which has 63 MLAs, won two seats. But its candidates received only 56 votes as seven MLAs' votes reportedly went in favour of the Congress.

There were doubts about BJP's surplus votes shifting to its alliance partner JDS as its lone candidate polled only 14 votes. At least four of the JDS' 18 MLAs had allegedly cross voted. But Vijayendra and Ashoka issued a statement suspecting more JDS MLAs of cross voting in the election.

"I have obtained all information on cross voting and money changing hands. Action will be taken against those found guilty of cross voting and we will also ensure that they will never become MLAs again," Ashoka said.

"I spoke to Kumaraswamy on Thursday night and he too was in shock. We discussed strategies to give a fitting reply to those who had hatched a plot," he said, indirectly referring to Chief Minister DK Shivakumar and other Congress leaders.

The BJP high command has taken the issue seriously as Union minister Kumaraswamy's prestige is at stake. Ahead of the election, BJP president Nitin Nabin and Kumaraswamy held talks on fielding a JDS nominee as NDA candidate. After discussing with Vijayendra, Kumaraswamy decided to field his party's candidate hoping that the NDA will give a tough fight to Congress party's fifth candidate Vinay Karthik, who eventually won by bagging 32 votes. JDS candidate Govindaraju bagged only 14 votes.

BJP panel to probe

BJP on Friday set up a three-member panel headed by MLC CT Ravi to investigate cross voting in the Council election. Vijayendra issued an order in this regard. BJP state vice-president N Mahesh and MLA Mahesh Tenginakai are the other members of the panel, which has been asked to submit a report by June 25. Disciplinary action will be taken based on the panel's recommendations.

Meanwhile, MLAs Byrati Basavaraju, Chandru Lamani, Duryodhan Aihole and Krishna Naik clarified that they did not indulge in cross voting. Vijayendra accused the Congress of hatching a plot and floating the names of some BJP MLAs to create a rift within the party.

Leader of Opposition in the Council Chalavadi Narayanaswamy said the four votes the BJP earmarked went to its alliance partner JDS. "We should not doubt anyone. We have made it clear that we will take action against those who had cross voted," he said.

MY TAKE

Yes, minister! Give us Bengaluru without 'rocket science'!

NIRAD MUDUR
Resident Editor, Karnataka
niradgmudur@newindianexpress.com

SOON after taking charge as Bengaluru Development Minister on June 16, Krishna Byre Gowda, took the officials of the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) to task. Expressing his frustration over the recurring issue of potholes and poor-quality roads in Bengaluru, he asked them a million-dollar question: "Is road construction rocket science?" It was a clincher of a question. Nothing concrete has come out of it yet, but it seems to have set the tone for things ahead. At least the intention became transparent – that something is about to happen that will make Bengaluru liveable again.

Why that optimism? Because although he was referring to the poor condition of roads, the same principle – that there is no "rocket science" involved for correction – can be applied to a whole slew of problems afflicting Bengaluru. Yes, there may be problems, but none of them need "rocket science" to resolve.

In a strange way, it seemed similar to an incident that had occurred in a restaurant some years ago, and in which coincidentally the same term "rocket science" was used by the restaurant's manager while reprimanding the cooks for not being able to prepare a dish that the customers wanted – "Do you need rocket science to prepare what they want?" he shouted. The customers, however, got up and left. They wanted that one dish, did not get it, and they walked out, probably to another restaurant where they got what they wanted. The same could play out at a more worrisome level if the minister's use of the words is not taken seriously – Bengaluru could lose a lot more than a restaurant losing its customers to another.

The refreshing part is that while the minister reprimanded the officials about the poor road condition, its application can be widened to almost all the ills infecting Bengaluru – road congestion, littered public spaces, thoughtlessly designed flyovers and subways, lack of proper signage for road directions or information, public urination and spitting.....the list goes on, but solutions fail to rise over the horizon. Only suggestions and ideas keep floating, which seem great, but whether they would help, and in what way, remains unclear. This makes Bengalureans cynical over the "hell hole" we have allowed our city to evolve into. It is the sheer helplessness that makes "rocket science" appear the only go-to plan to solve Bengaluru's woes.

Not so! Take congested roads, for instance. In October 2024, at the Move In Sync Mobility Symposium 2024, held in Bengaluru, Mohandas Pai, Chairman, Manipal Global Education Services, and advisor, Manipal Education & Medical Group, had suggested creating a "digital twin" of Bengaluru to track road congestion over the previous five years, study the causes, and analyse them to detect where the "hot spots" are in the city, why traffic jams occur there, and come up with solutions to prevent congestion on the roads in future – a great idea that Pai floated to industry leaders, dignitaries, policymakers, among others with an eye on finding mobility solutions for the city.

Whatever happened to that idea, consider this: Why just road congestion, any of the problems mentioned can be addressed nowadays using technology to map, analyse and then find solutions. Putting the solutions into practice is, and will, remain a huge challenge — seemingly an almost impossible one to overcome. But let's not get bogged down assuming it's impossible. We know it is possible to overcome these and actually put solutions in place.

Every problem has a solution. That is why we are told that problems do not stay forever. But the solutions need to come from the minds of those who are passionate about finding them. Without such minds there cannot be solutions. People who find such solutions are the ones who have the potential to justify American author Dr Robert H Schuller's message – that also forms the title of his 1983 book – Tough Times Never Last, But Tough People Do!.

In fact, there is no "rocket science" involved in all this, which is why Minister Byre Gowda has hit the right spot. Let's leave "rocket science" to our space scientists to worry about, and claim our city instead, beginning by applying our minds to the challenge!

DKS adopted Delhi model in K'taka: Satish

ENS @ Bengaluru

WHILE CM DK Shivakumar has maintained that he was unaware of cross-voting by BJP and JDS MLAs in Thursday's polls to seven MLC seats, of which Congress won five, his cabinet colleague and PWD Minister Satish Jarkiholi remarked that Shivakumar gave a befitting response to the BJP national leadership. Drawing parallels to the BJP allegedly poaching MLAs from rival parties, Satish said Shivakumar adopted the same model in Karnataka.

"What happened in Delhi has now happened in Karnataka as well. That has become a model, and our CM has adopted the model here. Congress has adopted the BJP model for the first time," he said. However, he clarified that the Congress stayed away from direct "horse-trading". Jarkiholi acknowledged that cross-voting in favour of the Congress party indeed took place. "Four votes might have come from JDS and seven votes from BJP. It is true they voted for us," he stated. He attributed it to internal rifts within the opposition, suggesting that "dissatisfaction or differences within their leadership could be the reason why they voted for us", or there could be personal "friendships or relations".

On reports regarding a Congress MLA's cross-voting or incorrect allocation of votes for Congress candidate PV Mohan, he said, "Nothing has gone out from our side; even if something happened, it did not go outside (the party)."

Notably, Mohan was allotted 30 Congress MLAs' votes but polled 29 and won.

Kumaraswamy looks to leverage loss to expose chinks in BJP

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

JDS candidate Inchara Govindraj's humiliating defeat due to cross-voting by MLAs of his own party and ally BJP, has triggered intense introspection within the party. Sources close to the JDS leadership claim that party leader HD Kumaraswamy had anticipated, and perhaps even welcomed the loss to expose coordination failures with alliance partner BJP.

The defeat is being viewed internally as a deliberate exposé. Kumaraswamy, who has long nursed ambitions of the chief minister's chair in 2028, reportedly used the contest to highlight what he sees as critical weaknesses in the state BJP leadership, particularly its inability to manage its own ranks and deliver on joint opposition strategies.

The JDS tried hard to have patriarch HD Deve Gowda renominated to the RS and was not too pleased that the BJP state leadership did not support them, and instead opposed them. The numbers, on paper, had looked promising. With BJP holding 66 seats and JDS 18, the alliance commanded a collective strength of 84 votes -- enough, in theory, to deliver a comfortable win which needed only 28 votes. Yet coordination proved elusive.

Insiders reveal the JDS pushed for a unified approach involving key figures like ST Somashekar, Shivaram Hebbar, Basanagouda Yatnal, plus Janardhan Reddy, but the BJP state unit hesitated and ultimately declined to field its own candidate. Instead, it urged the JDS to go it alone with its limited 18-seat base, offering assurances that "extra votes" would flow in. Those votes never materialized. The Congress, sensing vulnerability, fielded only four candidates while fully aware of the risks to a fifth.

The outcome left the JDS rank and file questioning the alliance. "Kumaraswamy is not pleased with how the BJP state leadership has handled critical issues like the Bidadi Township project and other coordination," a source close to the JDS leadership said.

The defeat comes at a sensitive time for the BJP as well. Kumaraswamy, positioning himself as a claimant for the top job post-2028, is said to have brushed aside internal warnings about the risks. His message is pointed: the current state BJP leadership, including president BY Vijayendra and Opposition Leader R Ashoka, lacks the steel to keep the flock together. "How can the two parties unitedly go to polls with this kind of leadership?" he has reportedly asked the BJP brass.

For Kumaraswamy, the episode serves a dual purpose -- strengthening his own leverage within the NDA framework while undermining potential rivals within the BJP. The JDS believes this disarray will force the BJP high command to take note of ground realities in Karnataka.

I am not surprised by cross-voting, does not worry me, says HDK

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Mysuru

UNION Minister for Steel and Heavy Industries and Janata Dal (Secular) leader HD Kumaraswamy said that he was neither surprised nor unsettled by reported cross-voting in the recent Legislative Council elections.

Speaking to media persons in Mysuru on Friday, Kumaraswamy, a former chief minister, said he had anticipated cross-voting within the ranks. He claimed that four MLAs had voted against the party and that some of them were already discussing leaving the party. He maintained that such developments did not worry him, adding that he was aware of internal alignments and future actions would be taken after reviewing the situation.

He said excessive trust within the party had contributed to the setback, but insisted the organisation had enough strength to recover. According to him, the decision to field a candidate was also meant to assess the "conscience" of party MLAs, and the outcome had unfolded as expected.

> The decision to field a candidate was also meant to assess the 'conscience' of JDS MLAs, and the outcome had unfolded as expected
> — HD Kumaraswamy, Union Minister and former CM

Reiterating his confidence, Kumaraswamy said the party would focus more on young leaders and give greater opportunities to Gen Z in the coming days. He said rebuilding leadership was a priority and new faces would be encouraged.

On senior leader GT Devegowda, he expressed strong displeasure, saying the leader had effectively moved away from the party. Kumaraswamy said his position on Devegowda was final and would not change, even under pressure from within the party or from former Prime Minister HD Deve Gowda.

On his return to state politics, Kumaraswamy said his role at the Centre was temporary, while his connection to state politics remained permanent, also pointing out that he continues to serve as party president.

On the Bidadi Township issue, he rejected claims that he had removed red-zone restrictions for land conversion. He argued that if he had supported real estate interests, farmers would have lost their land. He also said that payments by DLF were made during Governor's rule and not during his tenure as CM. He further said he would release past Assembly records, citing speeches by leaders, including Siddaramaiah, DK Shivakumar, and Mallikarjun Kharge on the Bidadi Township proposal.

Kumaraswamy added that although he had initiated plans for multiple townships during his tenure as CM in 2006-07, the Bidadi project was later dropped after consultations, saying he chose not to proceed in the interest of farmers.

At the event organised at NIMHANS, Bengaluru Central MP PC Mohan said, "Since the Covid years, India soared from being the 10th largest economy to becoming the fourth largest. Despite the ongoing warlike situation, our prices are stable."

Ensure guarantee benefits credited only to Karnataka-based accounts: CM to officials

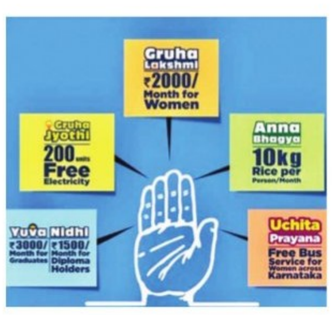
EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Chief Minister DK Shivakumar has directed officials to ensure that bank accounts linked to the state's guarantee schemes are located within Karnataka, after it was found that funds were being transferred to accounts in other states.

The CM said Karnataka's welfare programmes must benefit only eligible residents of the state. He expressed concern that voters from other states were reportedly availing benefits under the schemes and instructed officials to take steps to prevent such instances.

Shivakumar, who held a review meeting on guarantee schemes on Friday, directed officials to ensure that no eligible beneficiary is inconvenienced while cracking down on misuse of the guarantee schemes. Further, the CM said that action should focus only on ineligible beneficiaries and fraudulent claims. Shivakumar noted that some Gruha Lakshmi beneficiaries had changed bank accounts after the assistance amount was automatically adjusted against loan repayments and said such genuine beneficiaries should not face difficulties.

In the meeting, officials informed that Gruha Lakshmi benefits were being credited to deceased beneficiaries and that some accounts outside Karnataka were receiving payments. Officials also flagged alleged misuse of UPI accounts opened through Airtel Payments Bank. Shivakumar stressed that Karnataka's welfare schemes must benefit only eligible residents of the state and directed officials to plug loopholes.



The CM also suggested encouraging financially well-off beneficiaries to voluntarily opt out of the schemes.

The meeting also reviewed technical issues in the Gruha Lakshmi scheme, including e-KYC compliance and inactive bank accounts. It also discussed observations in the CAG report, which flagged cases of multiple beneficiaries receiving payments through a single account, duplicate registrations and inadequate verification of application details.

Officials were also directed to gather information on people from other states who have settled in Karnataka and are availing benefits under the Gruha Jyothi scheme. The meeting stressed that only those whose names are on the electoral rolls should be beneficiaries of government welfare schemes. The meeting also called for strict action to curb the illegal sale of Anna Bhagya rice in the black market.

Officials informed that 763 crore free journeys had been undertaken by women under the Shakti scheme till the end of May, with ticket reimbursements amounting to Rs 20,047.69 crore. Around 10 lakh free bus passes are expected to be distributed to students during 2026-27. "Under Gruha Jyothi, 1.65 crore beneficiaries have availed benefits so far. The review also noted that Rs 11,561 crore has been transferred to beneficiaries under the Anna Bhagya scheme through DBT, while an additional 5 kg of rice has been distributed every month since February 2025," stated a release from the CM's office.

Smart cards

Financial Advisor to CM DK Shivakumar, LK Ateeq, said that the idea of issuing a smart card for eligible people to avail benefits of guarantees is being examined. The technology to be adopted for this purpose—whether to give a smart card that can be swiped or tapped—are being looked into, he said. All stakeholders, including the transport department, are being consulted, he said.

Ateeq further said that they are also discussing if there should be one smart card for all the guarantees or one card for two or more guarantees combined. He said that maximum attention is being paid to Gruha Jyothi and Gruha Lakshmi schemes.

In case of Anna Bhagya, there are already BPL and APL cards to address issues. Ateeq said there are 1.64 crore RR number consumers who are eligible for the Gruha Jyothi scheme but have not taken it, as they are financially capable of paying electricity bills.

Sources said a discussion was also held on increasing bus fares in the wake of rising fuel prices.

"What happened in Delhi has now happened in Karnataka as well. That has become a model, and our CM has adopted it here. Congress has adopted the BJP model for the first time

K'TAKA COURTS HIT BY HOAX BOMB THREATS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Dharwad/Kolar/Davanagere

DISTRICT courts in Kolar, Dharwad and Davanagere received multiple hoax bomb threat e-mails on Friday, disrupting court proceedings and triggering heightened security measures.

The bomb threat messages prompted police and security personnel to launch extensive search operations at the court premises. The Kolar District Court received a threat email on Friday morning, while similar communications were sent to the district courts in Dharwad and Davanagere. Following thorough inspections and preliminary investigations, authorities confirmed that the threats were false alarms. The hoax bomb threat in the Dharwad district court marks the third such incident this year. Earlier, similar bomb threats had been directed at the High Court. According to sources, the message originated from kurunanidhi.kundi@underworlddog, claiming that bombs would detonate by 2 pm. Police carried out extensive sanitisation for more than two hours. This was the third occurrence.

Bomb threat emails were received at the district courts in Davanagere, Dharwad and Kolar, triggering a tense atmosphere for some time. The bomb disposal squad and the dog squad conducted a thorough search. In Davanagere, a bomb threat message was sent to the official email ID of the district court located near PB Road. The Kolar District Court received a bomb threat message at 10.53 am. Court staff immediately brought the matter to the notice of the Principal District and Sessions Judge, who informed the police. Speaking to media persons, the SP said no explosives or suspicious materials were found during the search operation. Kolar Town Police have registered a case and launched an investigation to trace the person responsible for sending the threat email.

He added that around 8 am, a hoax email threat was received by the district court, and based on the information available, the anti-bomb squad and K9 squads were deployed to investigate, following which the call was confirmed to be a hoax.

Activists express concern over exclusions in SIR

GAYATHRI M KURUP @Bengaluru

ACTIVISTS and community leaders have expressed concerns that the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls in Karnataka could disproportionately affect vulnerable groups, including transgender persons, Adivasis, Dalits, nomadic communities, waste pickers, migrant workers, sex workers and Devadasis. The exercise is set to begin in Karnataka on June 20.

The concerns were raised during the ongoing 'My Vote, My Right' campaign, which is conducting a statewide SIR Janajagruti Jatha to create awareness about the voter verification exercise. Vinay Srinivas, a member of the campaign, said the awareness drive was launched to inform voters about the exercise and highlight concerns that have emerged from similar revisions conducted in other states.

Transgender rights activist Akkai Padmashali said the exercise could create serious challenges for transgender persons whose names and identities have changed over the years. "Many transgender persons do not have access to family records because they were pushed out of their homes. How will they prove these links?" she asked. She added that sex workers, Devadasis and their children could also face similar hurdles and called for a separate drive to ensure these communities are not denied their voting rights.

Waste pickers and migrant workers activists said many a significant section of waste pickers lack basic documents such as birth certificates and ration cards.

Names of doctors on transfer list go missing from transfer order

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

THE Directorate of Health and Family Welfare Services has come under scrutiny after several doctors listed in the final General Transfer list for Chief Medical Officers (CMOs) for 2026-27, disappeared from the official transfer orders issued on June 6. According to rules, every name appearing in the final transfer list must feature in the transfer order. Any exemptions granted are required to be explicitly mentioned. However, names of certain senior doctors who were part of the final list were omitted entirely, without any explanation.

This selective "disappearance" has triggered speculation and raised questions about transparency in the process. Among the doctors on the final transfer list who did not feature in the transfer orders are: Dr Srinivas G, General Hospital, Srinivasapura and Dr Latha Prameela, General Hospital, KR Puram. In the past, similar transfer-related requests by doctors have been rejected, with some officers even opting for voluntary retirement after their appeals were turned down. The case of Dr Srinivas G has drawn particular attention. He is actively contesting for the post of president of the Karnataka Government Medical Officers' Association (Kolar district) and is currently campaigning on a platform of reform. One of the key promises in his six-point manifesto is to bring greater transparency in transfer and promotion lists if elected.

The Directorate is yet to issue any clarification on the omission of names from the final orders, or reasons behind the selective exemptions. Health department watchers say it has eroded confidence in the transfer process and could dent the credibility of the ongoing administrative exercise. Further developments are awaited as association demands full transparency.

ED raids at 6 places for FEMA violations exceeding ₹2,500cr

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Directorate of Enforcement (ED), Bengaluru zone, conducted searches under the Foreign Exchange Management Act at six premises across the city on allegations of unauthorised cross-border transfer of money using Virtual Digital Assets (VDAs) by multiple entities.

Preliminary findings revealed contravention of FEMA through unauthorised cross border money transfer, amounting to more than Rs 2,500 crore. The main entities where the searches were conducted were Transak Technology India Pvt Ltd, Carretx Technologies Pvt Ltd, Mokshagna Technologies Pvt Ltd, Buyhatke Internet Pvt Ltd and Abhibha Technologies Pvt Ltd. Restraint orders have been placed on bank accounts used by some of these entities having a balance of around Rs 6 crore. The ED initiated the investigation based on a complaint alleging largescale FEMA violations by Bengaluru-based unauthorised payment system operators using crypto currencies.

None of these entities which were offering cross-border transfer of money through VDAs are designated as authorized by the RBI. These entities are not complying with any regulation such as purpose code, FIRC etc mandated by the RBI for inward and outward remittances. Most of these entities circumvented the official channel by operating through related entities registered in foreign jurisdiction and controlled and operated from India.

The operations revealed use of a large volume of over-the-counter deals in India-based crypto trading platforms, use of shell entities especially incorporated in known tax havens, use of foreign-based crypto trading platforms for unauthorised cross border transfer, the ED said.

KARNATAKA TO COME OUT WITH COASTAL TOURISM POLICY SOON

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka government will soon announce the first-ever coastal tourism policy. This will be separate from the existing tourism policy.

Chairing the meeting along with Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Friday, Tourism Minister KJ George said this new policy will soon be released and announced in a cabinet meeting that will be held in Mangaluru. The meeting on Friday was to take inputs from all stakeholders before finalising it.

Adding to this, LK Ateeq, financial advisor to CM, said that before the new policy, all the required approvals will be taken and finalised. He also said at the meeting, stakeholders raised concerns over the method of operations, business opportunities and stringent laws.Pertaining to the Coastal Regular Zones (CRZ) rules, Ateeq said, the stakeholders pointed out that it was a big concern. They informed the CM that the rules were more stringent in Karnataka when compared to Kerala and Goa. The CM said that he will lead a delegation to the Union government to seek amendments and relaxations to the existing CRZ rules.

A proposal will also be submitted to the central government for approval. Sources told *TNIE t*hat a discussion was also held on inviting a team of experts from a Chennai-based coastal research institute to visit the coast of Karnataka and undertake a detailed study on the CRZ rules and the state's coastline. The coastal policy will complement the tourism policy, identifying gaps to boost coastal tourism development.

Karnataka government officials are examining the feasibility of introducing a smart card system for beneficiaries of its guarantee schemes, according to Ateeq. Discussions are underway on the technology to be adopted, including whether the card should function through a swipe or tap-and-go mechanism. Authorities are also considering a single smart card for all guarantee schemes. Tenders for appointing a transaction advisory committee will be floated soon, while a resurvey for reapplications and a new KYC process are being planned.

A house-to-house verification drive will also be conducted. Officials are prioritising the Gruha Jyothi and Gruha Lakshmi schemes, he said. Ateeq said there are 1.64 crore RR number consumers who are eligible for the Gruha Jyothi scheme but have not taken it. A discussion was also held on increasing the coast of the bus fare based on the rising fuel charges, he stressed.

HC directs OMCs to consider request for ethanol supply

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court directed oil marketing companies (OMCs) -- Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd, Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Ltd and Indian Oil Corporation Ltd to consider the representation seeking enhancement of the allocation in the supply of ethanol within four weeks.

Allowing the petition filed by M/s Vinp Distilleries and Sugars Pvt Ltd, Haveri district, seeking directions to OMCs to consider the representation dated October 27, 2025, Justice M Nagaprasanna said the petitioner becomes entitled to issuance of a writ of mandamus directing OMCs to act in consonance with Clause 6.8 of the agreement, particularly when they themselves invoked Clause 6.8 to enhance procurement from 1.44 crore litres to 3.92 crore litres. There cannot be selective or partial invocation of Clause 6.8 by denying 9.90 crore litres as sought for. If such conduct were to be countenanced, operation of the clause would be reduced to the whims and fancies of OMCs, an eventuality wholly antithetical to law, he said. The petitioner was established exclusively for supplying ethanol to OMCs. The OMCs notified a tender in August 2021 for entering into long-term offtake agreements with dedicated ethanol plants in ethanol-deficit states, and the bids were opened in September of the same year.

In March 2023, the OMCs issued a second expression of interest to sign LTOAs in some states. In September 2025, a tender was floated inviting bids by OMCs for the supply of 1,050 crore litres of denatured anhydrous ethanol for ethanol supply year 2025-26. Through an e-mail on October 17, 2025, it was communicated that the petitioner was allotted a quantity of only 3.92 crore litres of ethanol against the allocation in the bid of 9.26 crore litres.

COMMUNAL ROW

Tension in Bhatkal after FIR against Hindu activists

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bhatkal (Uttara Kannada)

A car carrying a Hindu woman and a Muslim man, who are co-workers at a supermarket, breaks down on Sagar-Bhatkal Road in the communally sensitive coastal town of Bhatkal at 9 pm on Wednesday.

They were seen by passersby and activists belonging to right-wing organisations question them. The woman says that she has been forcibly brought there by her co-worker.

The agitated activists take them to Bhatkal Rural Police station. "We sent them to Bhatkal Rural Police station but when they reached there, the man lodged a complaint against four of us saying he was assaulted by us," said Srikanth Naik, a local BJP leader.

The Hindu activists alleged that the police initially did not register the complaint by the woman but registered an FIR against them based on the man's assault charge. Enraged, Hindu activists then protested in front of the police station, leading to tension in the town.

The police have registered an FIR based on the woman's complaint that she was kidnapped and molested by her co-worker, Shahid.

"The incident occurred on Wednesday. An investigation is on," said MN Deepan, Superintendent of Police, Uttara Kannada. Sources say Shahid wanted to have a relationship with the woman. On Wednesday he had asked her to come along with him. He took her to Sagar-Bhatkal Road when the car they were travelling in broke down.

DPIIT to set up 100 industrial parks across India in 6 yrs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TO elevate India's manufacturing sector to a global level, the Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade (DPIIT) under the Union Ministry of Commerce and Industries is aiming to develop 100 industrial parks across the nation over the next six years, said Gurneet Tej, Joint Secretary, DPIIT.

Outlining the key frameworks of the Union government's flagship initiative, at a press conference held here on Friday, Gurneet said the 'BHAVYA' scheme was launched on May 23 with a budgetary outlay of Rs 33,660 crore, and is set to transform the landscape of the country's industrial infrastructure.

"The scheme will develop 100 industrial parks with a minimum land of 100 acres up to 500 acres, and the deadline to submit applications for the first phase is July 31. Of this, 20 parks will be up to 1,000 acres. The focus is on constructing infrastructure-ready plug-and-play parks to facilitate the immediate commencement of manufacturing activities", she said. Gurneet said that the parks would be suitably located near expressways, railways, airports. The second round for submitting applications would be between August 1 till September 30. She clarified that there is no cap on the number of industrial parks that can be set up in a state under the scheme.

She said that 'BHAVYA' scheme places significant emphasis on Public-Private Partnerships and that the union government will provide financial assistance of up to a maximum of Rs 1 crore per acre for industrial parks developed on government land. "For parks developed under private sector leadership, financial assistance up to Rs 50 lakh per acre is permitted. Moving beyond just metropolitan areas, Tier-2 and Tier-3 cities with a population of over 10 lakhs have been brought under the ambit of this scheme. Special focus will also be given to states that are lagging in industrial progress," Tej said.

SC junks plea seeking CBI probe into TN trust vote

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ Chennai

THE Supreme Court on Friday rejected a petition seeking a probe into alleged irregularities and corruption in the May 13 trust vote in the Tamil Nadu Assembly, after noting that the allegations lacked substance.

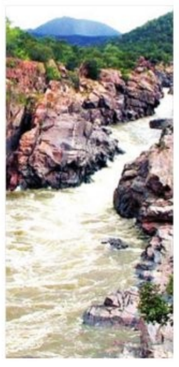
While dismissing the plea, a division bench comprising Chief Justice of India (CJI) Surya Kant and Justice V Mohana observed that the petition was based on "vague, wild and casual allegations" without any supporting material on record.

"Serious allegations against constitutional processes must rest on facts," the bench observed before rejecting the plea with no further directions.

The petition was filed by K K Ramesh, who had moved the court seeking a CBI probe into the matter and the imposition of President's Rule in the state till the completion of the investigation. The plea claimed, "There are allegations that some thousand crores were distributed to other parties' MLAs."

sThe petitioner also claimed that in the TN Assembly, some MLAs from other parties were allegedly involved in horse-trading, and huge amounts of money were handed over to certain MLAs by the TVK. Some MLAs from other parties did not join the government, but violated the party whip for money and other benefits, he claimed.

TN HOUSE ADOPTS RESOLUTION AGAINST MEKEDATU PROJECT



EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

THE Tamil Nadu Assembly on Friday unanimously adopted a resolution moved by Chief Minister C Joseph Vijay, objecting to the Karnataka government's unilateral attempt to build a dam across the Cauvery river at Mekedatu. The House urged the Union Government not to grant technical or environmental clearances to the project and sought the Central Water Commission not to consider Karnataka's Detailed Project Report for the construction of the dam. It also called for the constitution of a tribunal to adjudicate the Mekedatu dispute.

The resolution was backed by various parties, including DMK, AIADMK, Congress, VCK, PMK, DMDK and the Left parties. The TN Assembly previously passed unanimous resolutions against the Mekedatu dam during the AIADMK and DMK regimes in 2018 and 2022, respectively.

LoP Udhayanidhi Stalin said the previous DMK regime, on March 4, had written to the Centre to constitute a tribunal under Section 4 of the Inter-State River Water Disputes Act, 1956, to adjudicate the dispute over the Mekedatu dam proposal and requested that this amendment be incorporated into the resolution moved by the CM. Agreeing to this, the CM moved an amendment, and the amended resolution was unanimously adopted.

WITHDRAW SUPPORT TO TVK: ASHOKA TO CONG

LoP in Karnataka Assembly R Ashoka challenged the Congress to withdraw its support to TVK after the party opposed the Mekedatu project. Ashok alleged that Congress was adopting a double standard on the issue and said CM DK Shivakumar should clarify the party's stand

DKS to meet Fadnavis over Krishna waters

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

WITH drinking water reserves under pressure in parts of North Karnataka, the state is pinning its hopes on a crucial meeting between Chief Minister DK Shivakumar and his Maharashtra counterpart Devendra Fadnavis in Mumbai on June 20 to secure the release of 2 tmcft of water into the Krishna River. Expressing optimism over a positive outcome, Belagavi Deputy Commissioner Mohammad Roshan said the state government expects Maharashtra to restore the practice of releasing 2 tmcft of water during the summer months, which has reportedly not happened for the past five to six years.

"The CM will personally impress upon his Maharashtra counterpart the need to release water. We are hopeful of receiving 2 tmcft, which will be used strictly for drinking purposes," Roshan said on Friday.

The urgency has intensified after a gate failure at the Hippargi Barrage resulted in the loss of nearly 1.5 tmcft of stored water, leaving only 0.08 tmcft in the reservoir. The issue has already been raised with the chief minister, who has taken up the matter directly with Maharashtra.

Roshan, however, ruled out any immediate drinking water crisis. He said the Hidkal Reservoir currently holds 5.5 tmcft of water and the Malaprabha Reservoir has 8 tmcft, of which about 5 tmcft is available for use. The available reserves will be earmarked exclusively for drinking water, with no supply being made for irrigation at present. Roshan also said the local bodies are instructed to ensure adequate water supply for livestock through continuous monitoring .

Treatment methods at facility under scrutiny after incident

THE rehab centre functions from a two-storey building. Before killing Shivalingaiah, the accused had bolted the doors of the other rooms on the second floor to ensure nobody came to help the victim. They brutally assaulted the victim with an iron rod and hacked him to death. The accused also attacked another patient on the first floor. The injured is undergoing treatment in a nearby hospital.

One of the accused in the group is said to be a minor. Police suspect the involvement of two others, Karthik and Suhail Pasha, along with Nithin. "It appears that the murder was planned.

Most patients in such rehab centres try to escape because of the treatment. The accused may only have wanted to escape from the treatment, and killed him. We will also investigate the kind of treatment being provided as many such patients are badly beaten when they don't cooperate," said an officer. Chandra Layout police are investigating.

TEST FOR NTA AS STUDENTS FOCUS ON NEET RE-EXAM

FOR the 22-lakh-plus aspirants of the National Eligibility cum Entrance Test for undergraduate medical courses or the NEET-UG re-exam, it's time for the real thing. Their sole task at the moment is to revise course material with a single-minded focus, shutting out the surround sound on the May 3 test that had to be scrapped as a few greedy teachers and unscrupulous actors gamed the system to leak question papers. This Sunday's nationwide test will give the students their last pen-and-paper opportunity to prove how worthy they are of the medical seats they aspire for. The exam will go digital from next year. It's also important not to get scammed by fly-by-night operators claiming to hawk question papers on the dark web. Remember, shortcuts can cut you short. One set of cyber criminals has already been busted as they tried to skim off a portion of the ₹300 crore in fees reimbursed by the Union education ministry for the cancelled May 3 exam.

As important as it is for the students, the re-exam is a test by fire for the National Testing Agency (NTA) that is tasked with making the process safe, secure, fair and stress-free. It has been anything but this year; so the NTA has its task cut out. With constant monitoring at the highest level this time around and a multi-layered security cover put in place, unprecedented steps have been taken like deploying the Air Force for delivering question papers and assigning paramilitary forces to guard them from airports right up to the exam centres. Drafting the military into this critical supply chain gave a sense of emergency. It also speaks to the moral fibre of the nation's civilian resources, though they continue to be part of the security grid.

Meanwhile, the Delhi High Court refused to quash an interim ban on the Telegram app to protect the re-exam's integrity. The government in its defence characterised Telegram as the 'new dark web', as it was the preferred medium for rogues disseminating leaked papers, fake news and much else in between. Given all this, there is too much at stake for the NTA that is already facing calls for accountability. It will have no place to hide if there is any further slip-up.

KERALA ADMITS FISCAL GAPS, DOES LITTLE TO BRIDGE THEM

THE budget presented by Kerala's new UDF government is like an undercooked dish—it has all the ingredients, yet does not have the required flavour. Belying expectations of a paradigm shift, the budget has shied away from any concrete proposal to offset the structural squeeze on the economy, where committed expenditure has left very little room for capital spending. Armed with a massive mandate and a white paper that exposed an economy fraying at the edges, the government was expected to do much more.

However, credit must be given to Chief Minister V D Satheesan, who is also the finance minister, for finally confronting reality. By acknowledging that Kerala can no longer depend on the central government, he has chosen to walk a fiscal high-wire—balancing a suffocating treasury against the hopes of millions. Admitting you have a problem is a welcome first step. But the real question is how to address it. The structural math remains stubbornly rigid as 77 paise of every rupee the state earns is swallowed by salaries, pensions and interest payments. This budget barely does anything to address the burden.

On a positive note, it lays out a blueprint for growth, pivoting explicitly towards port-led development with an industrial corridor. It also prunes uncommitted spending and slashes the annual plan outlay by 15 percent to ₹30,370 crore. Crucially, this was achieved not through fresh resource generation, but by aggressively reshuffling allocations. The only genuinely new tax sits on low-alcohol beverages.

The new welfare guarantees sound generous, including free bus travel for women costing the state ₹600 crore, increased ASHA and Anganwadi honorariums, and the Oommen Chandy Health Insurance Scheme. Remarkably, none of this is funded by tax increases. Instead, the government is banking on targeted restructuring, AI-driven GST analytics to catch defaulters, and sin taxes. In a welcome move, the state has openly acknowledged the Kerala Infrastructure Investment Fund Board's debt problem, ending years of fiscal deception.

The budget relies on private capital to expand the state's economic horizons. While this can be a route out of the morass in the long run, it will take years to bear fruit. Meanwhile, until the shrinking revenue base is structurally widened and expenditures legally overhauled, the economy's breathing room will continue to shrink with every passing fiscal. Kerala has embraced the truth; it still awaits the cure.

QUICK TAKE

LET'S KEEP WALKING

OF all the fundamental rights reiterated or carved out by the Supreme Court, the latest is about one of the most fundamental of human activities—walking. The bench of Justices P S Narasimha and A S Chandurkar held on Friday that the right to walk safely on demarcated footpaths is a fundamental right that takes priority. Now that human legs have been prioritised over the motor wheels that often threaten them on Indian sidewalks, there is another aspect the judiciary might want to ensure through the executive: making all footpaths friendly to the differently abled, which is already enshrined as a right through a 2016 law. Step-free access, dropped kerbs and tactile paving must be built in, right after ensuring the most basic feature—keeping all pavements properly paved throughout.

India is looking for stability in global affairs, while the US is speaking a language of leverage. We are witnessing a correction of the Indo-Pacific idea, not its end

MEASURING DIPLOMACY BY OUTCOMES RATHER THAN APPLAUSE

NIRUPAMA RAO

Former Foreign Secretary and Ambassador of India to the US

SOURAV ROY

THE most revealing moment of the Modi-Trump meeting at the G7 summit in Évian was not the absence of the famous embrace that has come to symbolise their relationship. Nor was it Donald Trump's familiar shower of praise for Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

It was a single sentence spoken by Modi before the meeting. "The world does not suffer from a shortage of resources. It suffers from a shortage of trust." At first hearing, it sounded like a general observation about international affairs. Yet in the context of recent events, it was difficult not to hear something deeper.

The meeting itself was never primarily about repairing India-US relations or engineering a dramatic reset. It was about managing a relationship that has become more complicated at a moment when the strategic landscape around India is being reshaped.

The international environment is changing rapidly. West Asia is in flux. The possibility of an end to the Iran conflict raises questions about the future balance of power in the region. Europe appears increasingly peripheral to the most consequential diplomatic conversations. China continues to expand its influence while remaining largely absent from the frontlines of crisis management. And the US under Donald Trump is speaking a language that many of its partners are finding increasingly unfamiliar.

It is the language of leverage. India, by contrast, continues to speak the language of stability. That difference may prove more consequential than any missing hug.

Much commentary following the meeting focused on optics. Trump dominated the encounter, speaking at length, wandering across subjects and dispensing his characteristic hyperbole. His references to Modi as a "great negotiator" and a "killer" were vintage Trump. He has always used exaggeration as a political instrument.

The more important question, however, is not what Trump said. It is what India gained. That answer remains uncertain. Trade negotiations continue. Questions surrounding visas remain unresolved. Differences regarding Pakistan persist. The larger uncertainties surrounding West Asia remain very much alive. Diplomacy ultimately has to be measured by outcomes rather than applause.

The contrast between the two leaders was visible not merely in style but in substance. Trump's worldview is transactional. Relationships are evaluated through advantage, reciprocity and immediate returns.

Modi's intervention at the G7 pointed towards something else. His emphasis on trust reflected a concern that many countries increasingly share. In a world where wars proliferate, trade is weaponised, sanctions become instruments of policy and alliances are repeatedly tested, predictability itself has become a strategic asset.

This concern was also visible in India's handling of the deaths of Indian sailors in the Gulf. The official Indian readout noted that the Prime Minister had reiterated the importance of ensuring the safety and security of civilians, including seafarers. The formulation was careful. The concern was unmistakable. The attribution was absent. Some will view this as excessive restraint. Others will see it as mature diplomacy.

The broader issue is that recent events are forcing a reassessment of assumptions that have governed India-US relations for nearly two decades. Much has been made recently of the apparent weakening of the Indo-Pacific framework. The renaming of the US Indo-Pacific Command has triggered debate about whether the concept itself has run its course. That conclusion is perhaps premature.

The Indo-Pacific was never merely a slogan. It reflected genuine strategic realities: the integration of the Indian and Pacific Oceans, China's expanding maritime reach, the importance of sea lanes and India's growing role in the wider Asian balance of power. What recent events have exposed is not the failure of the Indo-Pacific idea, but the limits of relying upon it as the principal organising framework for India-US relations.

Perhaps the Indo-Pacific was not an oversold stock so much as an incomplete prospectus. The China factor undoubtedly brought India and the US closer together. But the assumption that shared concerns about China would automatically produce convergence across the board now appears overly optimistic. Differences over trade, technology, Pakistan, Iran, Russia and immigration never disappeared. They were merely overshadowed by the larger imperative of balancing China's rise.

What we are witnessing today is therefore not the end of the Indo-Pacific idea. It's a correction. And corrections are not always unhealthy. They force a more realistic assessment of where interests genuinely converge.

This reassessment is visible also in a broader shift within sections of the American strategic establishment. Deputy Secretary of State Christopher Landau's remarks at the Raisina Dialogue and the scepticism expressed by influential figures such as Peter Thiel reflect an America increasingly focused on preserving technological and economic advantage. Countries are evaluated more through calculations of utility, capability and competitive relevance.

India is not exempt from this scrutiny. Washington's questions are increasingly practical. Can India become a trusted manufacturing hub? Can it emerge as a significant technology partner? Can it contribute to supply-chain resilience? Can it generate capabilities rather than simply promise potential? These are legitimate questions. But they are also questions that India should be asking of itself.

One of the curiosities of contemporary Indian discourse is that while we increasingly speak of ourselves as a leading power, we remain remarkably sensitive to external approval. A mature strategic culture should know better.

A country of India's size, history and aspirations does not need constant affirmation. It certainly does not need validation from Donald Trump. The real test of national stature lies in whether India's interests are taken into account when important decisions are made. It lies in whether India possesses the capabilities to shape outcomes rather than merely react to them.

The Modi-Trump meeting was therefore less significant for what it achieved than for what it revealed. The relationship remains important. The strategic logic remains compelling. But the era of easy assumptions is ending. India and the US are entering a more mature, more transactional and perhaps more demanding phase of their partnership.

That need not be a cause for alarm. Indeed, it may ultimately produce a healthier relationship, one grounded less in sentiment and more in a clear-eyed understanding of where interests align and where they do not.

In such a world, trust remains important. But trust, as the Prime Minister's remarks implied, cannot be sustained by rhetoric alone. It rests upon credibility. And credibility, in international politics, is another name for capability.

HOLDING FABLE EMBARGO AS MIRROR

ADITYA SINHA

Public policy professional

IN 1995, MIT Press published a book that nobody was meant to read in the ordinary way. It was the complete source code of Pretty Good Privacy, Phil Zimmermann's encryption programme, set in machine-readable type across some 900 pages. Washington had placed strong cryptography on the US Munitions List, alongside fighter aircraft and artillery, and exporting it without a licence was a crime. A book, however, was protected speech. You could not email the code abroad, but you could post the book, retype it and compile. The Ninth Circuit would later agree, in Bernstein, that source code was an expression. By around 2000, the controls had quietly collapsed, having mostly handicapped American firms while the mathematics spread anyway.

A generation on, the US has reached past the code to the thing the code produces.

On June 9 this year, Anthropic released two versions of its most capable model. Fable 5 came wrapped in safety classifiers; Mythos 5 was the same engine with the guardrails lifted, locked to a handful of vetted partners. Three days later, a letter arrived from the US Commerce Secretary. Both models were subjected to export controls. No foreign national could use them, whether inside the US or outside it, and that included Anthropic's own foreign-born employees. There is no way to verify the citizenship of everyone who opens a chat window, so the company did the only thing compliance allowed. It switched both models off—worldwide, for everybody. The most capable model ever made generally available to the public had a public life of three days.

The stated trigger was a jailbreak, a method of coaxing the model into reading a codebase and pointing out its flaws. Anthropic, which reviewed the demonstration, noted that the same vulnerabilities were discoverable by other widely available models, OpenAI's GPT-5.5 among them. Nothing was shipped. No weights crossed a border, no file changed hands. The model sat exactly where it had always sat. What the directive reached for was not a product crossing a frontier but a sentence being generated in answer to a question.

Export-control law has long recognised the 'deemed export'. Showing controlled blueprints to a foreign engineer in your own office is treated as an export to his country. Sensible enough, when the worry is that knowledge walks out in someone's head. But an inference is not a blueprint. To classify a remote conversation with a hosted machine as an export is to reclassify cognition itself as a controlled substance. A word, it seems, can be made to mean whatever the powerful decide it should. Whether the reading survives a court is an open question; Anthropic has already won a first round against this same administration on a related matter. The precedent, however, is now made.

Some argue that just as the embargo after Pokhran II forced indigenous capability in cryotechnology, the bar on sharing Claude Fable 5 will spur Indian AI. That analogy may not hold. India must treat compute as infrastructure and work with open-weight AI models

For India, the relevant clause is the plainest one. The directive bars foreign nationals, and to an American model, an Indian engineer in Bengaluru, or in Sunnyvale, is a foreign national. We have spent a decade telling ourselves that the frontier was a marketplace we could simply shop in. The letter is a reminder that the shopkeeper answers to a government which is not ours, and that the shop can be shut between one over of a World Cup match and the next.

The greater difficulty is one that India's chief economic advisor has been describing. A private sector that captures domestic demand but generates little intellectual property of its own, a consumer of others' technology rather than a producer of it, sits under a slow, accumulating threat. Indian research and development spending has hovered below 0.7 percent of GDP for years, against China's 2.4 percent and South Korea's near 5 percent. When the critical technology of the century can be withdrawn by a third party at will, that gap stops being an economic statistic and becomes a question of sovereignty.

There is a temptation, audible already, to celebrate. The argument runs that sanctions are a gift, that just as the embargo after Pokhran II in 1998 forced indigenous capability in cryotechnology and supercomputing, so this will force an Indian AI into being. There is something to it. Necessity does concentrate the mind.

But it is a dangerous comfort. Compulsion is not capacity. The Calico Acts of 1700 and 1721, which banned Indian cotton to protect Lancashire, did not make Indian weavers stronger. They helped deindustrialise a subcontinent. Restriction builds capability only where the foundations are already being laid, which is to say cheap and reliable power, fast access to compute, the freedom to hire and to fire, patient capital and talent that is not forever booking a one-way ticket west. We command none of these by wishing.

What India should do is therefore unglamorous and entirely within its gift. Treat compute as infrastructure rather than as a procurement line. Make it trivial to build a data centre and connect it to the grid in weeks instead of years. Keep close to the open-weight models that no letter can recall, since a model whose weights already sit on 10,000 drives has no off-switch in Washington. And fund, without illusions about the odds, at least one serious attempt at the frontier, not to wall our own firms behind it, but so that the option simply exists.

The Americans, in fairness, have done us the courtesy of being honest early. An umbrella is a fine thing in a downpour. It is a less fine thing when it belongs to someone else, and he decides, mid-shower, that he would rather like it back.

No Telegram, NTA takes to WhatsApp for neat NEET

Re-test will be held across 561 cities in India and 14 cities abroad ● Over 2 lakh personnel mobilised ● Preventive step to discourage any potential misuse, says body

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

TO ensure the NEET-UG retest on Sunday (June 21) takes place smoothly, the National Testing Agency (NTA) will conduct a nationwide drill on Saturday, said the education ministry.

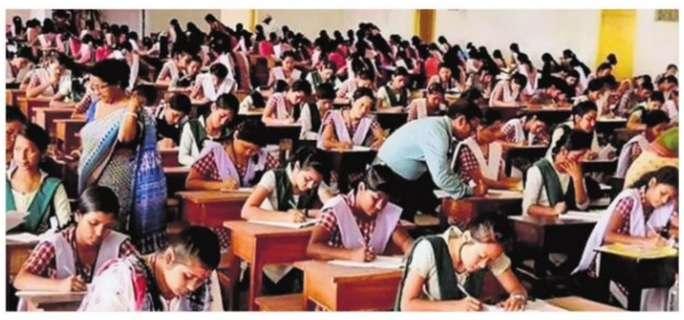
The NTA said that it was fully geared up to conduct a "transparent and secure" re-exam through a multi-layered security and monitoring framework, mobilisation of over 2 lakh personnel and candidate-centric measures. The agency has started reaching out to the 22.79 lakh candidates through Whatsapp while asserting that no leaks have taken place.

The agency issued a series of public notices and press statements on Friday. To hold the re-xam across 561 cities in India and 14 cities abroad, it has mobilised over 2 lakh personnel, it said in a release. A total of 674 city co-ordinators, 6,699 observers for independent oversight along with centre superintendents and invigilators at every examination centre are facilitating the process. "Coordinated effort has been undertaken with district administrators, police forces and escort teams, particularly for the secure transportation of confidential materials," it said.

The NTA has put in place a multi-layered security framework to ensure a fair exam. "End-to-end secure handling of confidential materials to designated locations under sealed protocols, GPS-enabled vehicles with police escort for movement of examination materials, CCTV surveillance at all examination centres with feeds linked to centralised control rooms, mandatory frisking through high sensitivity metal detectors and Aadhaar-based biometric authentication to prevent impersonification have been put in place," it said.

The NTA has begun sending exam updates and information on the centres for re-test to candidates directly on WhatsApp. It appealed to candidates to take precautions and verify if the communication was sent only by the NTA by following three steps—"crosscheck if the messages are sent only from the agency's verified account +91 78279 80287; watch out for the blue verified tick name 'National Testing Agency'; and finally any number without the blue tick is NOT NTA even if it uses our name." NTA is operating this as a broadcast-only channel. "We will not ask you to reply, share OTPs/personal details, or pay. Any 'NTA' message that does so is fraud," it added.

In a public notice, it said students who are unable to complete the biometric verification at the centre due to some reason will be allowed to take the exam after submitting an undertaking for which forms are available at the centre.



No urgent hearing for pleas asking to stall re-NEET: SC

The Supreme Court on Friday refused to hear urgently two petitions—filed by students and parents' bodies—seeking to stall the NEET-UG 2026 re-test fixed for June 21. A two-judge bench of the apex court, headed by CJI Surya Kant and Justice V Mohana said the pleas will be placed before Justice P S Narasimha's bench in July (after vacation) after the court resumes full sittings post the partial working days.

INDORE GIRL KILLS SELF, 'PAPER MAFIA' ARRESTED IN RAJ

ANURAAG SINGH & RAJESH ASNANI @ Bhopal/Jaipur

TWO days before the NEET-UG re-examination, a 21-year-old aspirant died after falling from a multi-storeyed building in Madhya Pradesh, while police in Rajasthan arrested a teenager accused of selling fake re-NEET question papers through a Telegram channel and charging ₹4,000 for each paper.

Avantika Maurya, daughter of government officer Dr Banshi Maurya, fell from the top floor of a four-storeyed building in Indore's Bhawarkuan area on Thursday night. She lived in a rented flat with her sister, an MBBS graduate preparing for postgraduate entrance examinations. Her father, who was attending training at MY Hospital in Indore, said she had taken NEET-UG thrice and was distressed.

Family members said she had appeared withdrawn in recent days and had not been eating regularly. After the fall, she was taken to a private hospital and later shifted to MY Hospital, where she died early on Friday. Police said forensic teams had inspected the spot and probe, including scrutiny of phone records, was underway.

Meanwhile, in Bhilwara, police arrested 19-year-old Akash Chaudhary, a student from Churu district, for allegedly circulating fake re-NEET papers online. Police said he operated a Telegram channel 'Paper Mafia', used a US-based VPN, and a QR code to receive payments. His phone and documents were seized, and probe is continuing.

Under strict surveillance

The Madhya Pradesh Police has deployed crack "cyber commandos" for round the clock social media surveillance to prevent any foul play during or before the conduct of the re-NEET. As many as 44 cyber commandos, trained at IITs, have been deployed in police units in MP Pradesh. Any suspicious activity will be tracked and strict action will be taken.

Not taking chances as NMC says no leave for doctors on June 20-21

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

AHEAD of the NEET-UG retest, the National Medical Commission (NMC) has directed all medical colleges and institutes to not grant leave to students on June 20 and 21.

In a notice, the commission said that in the past instances have come to notice where some students of medical colleges were found to be involved in activities that could compromise the sanctity and integrity of the examination process.

The commission's directive came following a letter by the Department of Higher Education Secretary Vineet Joshi to the Union Health Ministry on June 13. In the communication, the Department of Higher Education requested that suitable instructions be issued to all medical colleges to ensure that students do not engage in activities prejudicial to the conduct of the examination.

The NMC said the cancellation of leave for medical students is to discourage any potential misuse. "In view of this, and as a matter of general deterrence, all the medical colleges are hereby directed to remain vigilant and ensure that students are sensitised against any involvement in activities prejudicial to the conduct of the examination," it said.

The notice, dated June 18, said medical students should not be given leave, except under exceptional circumstances and with due justification. .

"This measure is intended as a preventive step to discourage any potential misuse and to support the fair conduct of the examination," said the notice by NMC Secretary Dr Raghav Langer. The communication has been sent to the deans and principals of all medical colleges and institutions under the commission's purview.

The commission had in April issued a similar notice for cancellation of leave for medical students when the NEET-UG exam was scheduled for May 3. However, the move was slammed by the resident doctors' association. The Federation of All India Medical Association (FAIMA) demanded immediate withdrawal of the order. They also demanded an apology from the NMC.

Abhishek meets Speaker, demands disqualification of 20 'rebel' MPs

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

THE Trinamool Congress (TMC) on Friday formally submitted 20 separate petitions to Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla seeking the disqualification of 20 rebel MPs under the anti-defection law.

Leading the delegation, TMC parliamentary party leader Abhishek Banerjee met the Speaker along with senior party leaders Sougata Roy, Kalyan Banerjee and Mahua Moitra to hand over the petitions. Rajya Sabha MP Derek O'Brien was also part of the delegation.

The move comes after the Speaker invited Banerjee to present the party's position before taking a decision on the rebels' claim that they have merged with the little-known Nationalist Citizens Party of India (NCPI) and should be recognised as a separate group in the Lok Sabha.

Addressing reporters after the meeting, Banerjee argued that the MPs had voluntarily given up their membership of the TMC by joining another political party and were therefore liable for disqualification under the Tenth Schedule of the Constitution. "The Tenth Schedule clearly states that voluntarily giving up membership of one's political party is a ground for disqualification. Even if 28 or 29 MPs of a parliamentary party leave together, it does not amount to a merger under the Constitution," he said.

Banerjee said the constitutional provision relating to mergers applies to the original political party and not merely to its legislative wing. A valid merger can only take place when at least two-thirds of the members of the original political party decide to merge with another political party, he said.

"The Constitution contains clear provisions dealing with defection and merger. Based on these provisions, I have submitted 20 separate disqualification petitions against the rebel MPs. A valid merger requires support from two-thirds of the entire political organisation, including national committees, state committees, frontal organisations and party office-bearers," he said.

Banerjee also cited Supreme Court judgments and legal precedents concerning the anti-defection law to support the TMC's position. He said copies of these judgments had been submitted to the Speaker. The rebels' demand for separate seating arrangements, recognition as independent group, and the appointment of their Lok Sabha leader can't be entertained while disqualification proceedings are pending, he said.

Rebels vie for TMC funds

Days after the former Bengal sports minister and close aide to TMC chief Mamata Banerjee's aide Aroop Biswas, sought to freeze the party account, the Ritabrata camp made the same appeal to the police on Friday.

World talking about youth power: PM

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

"THE world is discussing India's 'Yuva Shakti' (youth power) and has started recognising the potential of India's youth," Prime Minister Narendra Modi said on Friday upon his return from overseas visits while addressing an event in New Delhi.

In his address after disbursing incentives worth ₹2,400 crore to 15 lakh first-time employees and their employers, the Prime Minister said, "When the world is recognising India's youth potential, our effort is to ensure that every young person can transform their potential into opportunity. The Pradhan Mantri Viksit Bharat Rozgar Yojana has been launched with this objective."

He said the government remains committed to providing all necessary support to the youth so they can realise their aspirations and contribute towards achieving the goal of a 'Viksit Bharat' by 2047. Highlighting the Pradhan Mantri Viksit Bharat Rozgar Yojana (PM-VBRY), Modi said the scheme has generated more than 70 lakh jobs so far.

He noted that when the government, youth and industry work together, employment generation increases manifold. "The government encourages institutions and employers that generate new jobs, and the Pradhan Mantri Viksit Bharat Rozgar Yojana serves as a bridge between youth and industry for first-time job seekers," the PM said.

He added, "Through PM-VBRY, we are supporting employment generation, empowering youth and building a stronger workforce for the future." He further said that the scheme aims to empower first-time employees and to create a strong link between young people and industry.

"The aspirations, skills and potential of our youth shape the path to a Viksit Bharat. India's youth will be at the forefront of driving global growth, innovation and entrepreneurship in future," he asserted.

He also stated that opportunities in the 21st century would belong to nations that nurture skilled talent, encourage innovation and maintain the highest standards of quality. India, he said, is blessed with unprecedented capability in all three areas. Reiterating his government's commitment, the PM said that through the Viksit Bharat Rozgar Yojana, the government is supporting employment generation, empowering youth and building a stronger workforce for the future.

Highlighting India's growing global recognition, he said the world is now opening its doors to India, whereas earlier, during the tenure of previous non-NDA governments, "not even a window was opened".

He also stressed the need to make full use of the free trade agreements India has signed with 40 countries, noting that these agreements are beginning to create new global markets for Make in India brands.

Emphasising the importance of quality across all sectors, he said, "To succeed and excel in this world, we must meet the highest global standards of quality. Today, the world has high hopes from India, and I am confident that India's youth force will surpass the exectations by showcasing their potential to the world."

Will ensure all necessary support for young aspirations

The PM said the government remains committed to providing all necessary support to youth so they can realise their aspirations and contribute towards the goal of a 'Viksit Bharat' by 2047. Highlighting the PM-VBRY, he said the scheme has generated more than 70L jobs.

'Safe working environ for women lawyers must'

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday stressed the need to create conditions that enable women advocates to discharge their professional responsibilities effectively, safely and on equal terms. It also said a 'young lawyers' professional assistance fund' must be created to ensure that young and bright advocates do not leave the profession due to financial hardships.

The apex court was hearing a batch of pleas filed by a group of women advocates.

Taking note of issues raised in a plea that flagged inadequately equipped ladies' Bar rooms and other essential facilities in most of the courts, tribunals and commissions, the court said the concerns raised could not be brushed aside as a matter of mere convenience.

A bench of Chief Justice Surya Kant and Justice V Mohana said the legal profession has witnessed a steady increase in the participation of women over the last few decades. "In order for their participation to be made meaningful, it must be accompanied by the creation of conditions that enable women advocates to discharge their professional responsibilities effectively, safely, and on equal terms," the bench said.

The petitioners highlighted lack of clean washrooms, childcare facilities, secure chambers, and proper seating space for women lawyers. They argued that without basic infrastructure, women are forced to spend less time on court premises, which affects their practice and growth. "Women advocates are required to spend a substantial part of their day within court premises. Availability of basic infrastructure necessary for their comfort, privacy, safety and professional functioning assumes utmost significance," the court said. The bench added that providing safe and dignified working spaces is part of ensuring equality under Articles 14 and 21 of the Constitution. "If the infrastructure is inadequate, the right to practice becomes illusory," it said.

The bench issued notices to the Centre, states and Union Territories seeking their responses on hearing the pleas which highlighted the financial challenges faced by young lawyers during the formative years of practice. The bench said the issue concerning financial challenges faced by young lawyers is gender-neutral and merits serious consideration.

Stressing the need for creation of a fund to ensure their well-being, the top court said a young first-generation lawyer entering the Bar does not immediately inherit an office, a library, a stable clientele or a predictable source of income.

Posting the matter for July 17, the bench requested Attorney General R Venkataramani, advocate generals of the states and standing counsel for the UTs to remain present. The bench also added that providing safe and dignified working spaces is part of ensuring equality u UTs to remain present and render their assistance.

Decide on plea against deletion from poll roll: SC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday asked an appellate tribunal to expeditiously decide an appeal filed by an advocate challenging the deletion of his name from the voters' list after the Special Intensive Revision of electoral rolls in West Bengal.

A bench of CJI Surya Kant and Justice V Mohana noted that the petitioner appeared to be a bona fide resident of West Bengal. The counsel appearing for the petitioner told the bench that the 75-year-old is a lawyer for around five decades and he was a valid voter before the SIR exercise in the state.

The counsel said the petitioner had filed an appeal before the appellate tribunal against the deletion of his name, but it had not been decided yet.

While disposing of the plea, the bench asked the tribunal to decide the matter preferably within two months.

Shah asks for extensive use of tech for quick justice delivery to people

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah on Friday called for the extensive use of technology across the criminal justice chain—from investigation and prosecution to conviction —to ensure speedy and effective delivery of justice for citizens.

Addressing the inauguration of the All India Fingerprint Conference- 2026, organised by the National Crime Records Bureau (NCRB), Shah stressed the need to maximise the use of the National Automated Fingerprint Identification System (NAFIS) and strengthen its database through the systematic collection of fingerprints from crime scenes.

Highlighting the system's effectiveness, Shah said NAFIS has helped investigators crack several complex cases but remains significantly underutilised. "NAFIS is being used only about 10 per cent of its potential," he said, adding that its role should extend beyond merely identifying criminals.

"NAFIS can succeed only when its database is enriched with fingerprints collected from every crime scene. It is a two-way system. While it is extremely useful in identifying offenders, crimes can be conclusively proven only when adequate data is generated and integrated into the system," he said.

The Home Minister also underscored the importance of strengthening forensic databases and ensuring regular, high-quality inputs from crime scenes to improve investigative outcomes. He said scientific evidence has become central to India's evolving criminal justice framework and urged states to focus on the quality, integrity and security of forensic data.

"In the fight against crime, scientific evidence plays a crucial role," Shah said, noting that robust data systems can significantly enhance the efficiency and credibility of investigations.

Shah also highlighted the role of the NCRB in facilitating the implementation of the country's three new criminal laws. He said the bureau had provided critical support to police stations nationwide during the transition process.

Note to states on data

Shah urged states to ensure the secure storage and effective utilisation of forensic data, noting that such information could later aid intelligence gathering and help identify international criminals.He further emphasised the need for comprehensive training across the justice delivery system. He said training should go beyond operating digital applications and cover the generation of scientific evidence.

CPI(M-L) rubbishes Cong's charge of cross-voting in RS elections

Oppn unity put to test after independent wins poll

The defeat of the Congress candidate has triggered blame-game between alliance partners, with AICC in-charge K Raju saying only JMM voting for the party nominee. Both CPI(M-L) and RJD have strongly denounced the charge. "We can tell with full responsibility that our two MLAs voted for the Congress candidate as planned," said CPI(M-L).

THE defeat of the Congress candidate in the Rajya Sabha election, despite the ruling alliance enjoying a numerical advantage in the Jharkhand Assembly, has triggered bitter bickering within the INDIA bloc. What should have been a routine victory instead exposed distrust, competing ambitions and unresolved tensions among coalition partners, with accusations of cross-voting and betrayal flying across party lines. The result has become more than a poll setback for the Congress; it has emerged as a test of the bloc's internal unity.

The debacle triggered an immediate blame game among the Congress, RJD and CPI(M-L). Jharkhand Congress in-charge K Raju maintained that only JMM stood behind the party nominee. "We received all 16 votes of the Congress and four surplus votes from JMM, taking our tally to 20. However, this result is a consequence of the betrayal by RJD and CPI (M-L)," Raju said.

CPI(M-L) leaders denied the accusations. In a post on X, General Secretary Dipankar Bhattacharya said both party MLAs voted for the Congress nominee in line with a pre-decided resolution. "As for speculations over Jharkhand Rajya Sabha voting, we can tell with full responsibility that our two MLAs voted for the Congress candidate as planned," he stated. MLA Arup Chatterjee also argued that smaller parties were being unfairly targeted.

The allegations drew a response from the RJD, which condemned Raju's remarks as a reflection of a "vile mentality". RJD MLA and Minister Sanjay Prasad Yadav rejected the charge, saying, "RJD is not treacherous like the Congress and maintains a distinct identity." He asserted that all four RJD MLAs voted for the Congress candidate. RJD General Secretary Bhola Yadav echoed the criticism, saying that the Congress should introspect before blaming others.

The controversy followed the victory of BJP-backed Independent Parimal Nathwani and the comfortable win of JMM candidate Baidyanath Ram. Of the 81 votes cast, three were declared invalid. With Congress nominee Pranav Jha defeated, the outcome has deepened mistrust within the INDIA bloc.

Encroachment razed on Pak border in Raj

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

AS part of 'Operation Clean', an initiative driven by the Centre in border areas, the administration has launched a crackdown against encroachments on government land along the India-Pakistan border in Barmer district.

On the directives of Union Home Minister Amit Shah and the MHA's 'zero-tolerance' policy, the BSF and local revenue authorities have conducted a major anti-encroachment drive within a 15-kilometre radius of the border to bolster national security along the border. Under this joint operation, illegal structures in several border villages within the Gadra Road and Chohtan regions were demolished using bulldozers and JCB machines.

The action has sparked political heat in the border region. Congress leaders and local public representatives have raised serious questions on the timing and underlying motives of the operation. They claim that the drive is an attempt to "disrupt the region's social harmony."

BJP Rajyasabha MP Ghanshyam Tiwari said, "This action is conducted in villages till 50 km on all international borders and is designed to strengthen security forces. Anyone who considers himself a patriot should support such actions.

Bengal rolls back yoga day advisory, says event for govt staff not must

SUBHENDU MAITI @ Kolkata

FACING a legal challenge, the West Bengal government told the Calcutta High Court on Friday that participation of state employees in the June 21 Yoga Day programme is voluntary. Prime Minister Narendra Modi is scheduled to attend the main programme on Red Road in Kolkata.

The court disposed of a petition after the government clarified that a communication by Chief Secretary Manoj Agarwal was only an appeal to government employees and did not require compulsory attendance.

The petition was filed by the State Coordination Committee of West Bengal Government Employees, a CPM-led Left-leaning organisation, challenging the order and the chief secretary's authority to issue it.

After Additional Advocate General Billwadal Bhattacharya gave the clarification during the hearing, Justice Amrita Sinha verbally observed, "This litigation was not required."

The court recorded that the government's written instruction stated that the chief secretary's order "is a general appeal to all public servants to participate in the official function on the occasion of International Day of Yoga."

The June 14 order issued by the chief secretary had stated: "It has been decided that all officers and employees, including permanent, contractual, part-time, daily-wage/casual workers, outsourced personnel, and personnel engaged on honorarium basis of the State Government, PSUs, autonomous bodies, and local bodies shall observe the occasion by participating in the programme on 21.06.2026 from 6.30am to 7.45am from their respective offices/place of stay/ Red Road & Milan Mela, if nominated."

The order had left many employees scrambling to adjust their plans, with several feeling it had placed them in difficulty. The controversy over the Yoga Day event comes amid an ongoing legal challenge to the week-long closure of Red Road, ahead of the programme.

Rainfall deficit triggers water security concerns

Jammu and Kashmir has so far recorded a 42% rainfall deficit this year, underscoring the impact of climate change on the Himalayan region. According to data compiled by independent weather forecaster Faizan Arif, J&K received below-normal precipitation during May, recording 49.4 mm rainfall against the normal of 77.5 mm—a deficit of 36%. The shortfall has pushed the cumulative precipitation deficit for the January-May period to 42%. Experts say precipitation deficit is becoming increasingly significant during summer. Continued warming and low snowfall could gradually diminish glacier mass and threaten long-term water security.

Mountain rescue teams for Amarnath yatra

At least 45 mountain rescue teams (MRTs) of police and paramilitary forces will be deployed on the twin routes of Pahalgam and Baltal high-altitude terrain for Amarnath yatra to strengthen pilgrim safety. The 57-day yatra will start on July 3. MRTs will be equipped with basic rescue and medical aid kit like oxygen cylinders, stretchers, ropes, medicines for high-altitude sickness and water. MHA has approved deployment of 670 companies of paramilitary forces. In view of security concerns, all yatra routes have been declared no-flying zones. Police have launched QR-based 'Pehchan app' for registration and regulation of service providers.

AI-driven system to monitor potholes

In a first, the Jammu Municipal Corporation (JMC) has operationalised an integrated system combining AI-based road monitoring with a cold emulsion pothole patching machine worth ₹1.3 crore for scientific and timely repair of damaged roads in the city. JMC Commissioner Devansh Yadav said the corporation has adopted a proactive approach to road maintenance before the onset of the monsoon. Specially equipped vehicles fitted with AI-enabled cameras have been deployed for monitoring of roads. The AI system automatically detects potholes, geo-tags their locations and generates digital reports for engineering teams.

2 K-terrorists brought back from Malaysia

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

PUNJAB Police with the cooperation of central agencies has secured the deportation of two operatives linked to the banned Khalistan Zindabad Force (KZF) from Malaysia.

DGP Gaurav Yadav said the accused were apprehended at IGI Airport in New Delhi upon their arrival and brought to Punjab for investigation. "The two accused, identified as Gurwinder Singh, a resident of Ambala, and Manjeet Singh, a resident of Patiala, were key Malaysia-based nodes of a KZF-backed terror module involved in targeting critical railway infrastructure," he said.

The development came after busting of the terror module behind the IED explosion at Sirhind railway track on January 23 and an attempted blast on the same track at Shambu in Patiala on April 27 with arrest of four radicalised operatives.

Yadav said investigations into the forward and backward linkages of the transnational conspiracy uncovered the involvement of KZF handlers and financial facilitators operating from Malaysia. "The deported accused were found to be instrumental in channeling terror funds through offshore accounts to KZF operatives in Punjab," he said.

Uddhav threatens to quit as Sena chief, Shinde says 'Op Tiger' is just a trailer

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

ON the 60th Foundation Day of Shiv Sena (UBT), Uddhav Thackeray made an emotional appeal to party workers and threatened to resign as party president if anyone believed the allegations levelled against him were true that he is not a proactive leader.

"I have been the president of the party for a long time and am ready to leave it for anyone if you feel that the allegations against me are true. The person who wants to take over the party should be capable. The only condition is that that person should not be a traitor. The reason Sena was built by sweating and hard work cannot be given to anyone," Thackeray said. He also apologised to voters for the reported defection of six MPs from his party and warned that democracy was under threat.

Responding at a rival foundation day event, Maharashtra Deputy Chief Minister and Shiv Sena chief Eknath Shinde said, "Operation Tiger is just the trailer; the main film is yet to be released." Shinde said that after Operation Tiger, "many dogs started barking", but maintained that the tiger hunts alone and would continue such operations. He said he could not be blamed if leaders from other parties chose to join him, claiming they were attracted by opportunities and a brighter future. Attacking Rahul Gandhi, Shinde said the Congress continued under failed leadership and warned that parties aligning with it would harm their own future.

Meanwhile, Thackeray said poaching opposition leaders was being celebrated instead of condemned. He remarked that the Congress had never tried to destroy the Sena, but alleged that the BJP was attempting to do so despite the Sena's support in its early years. "In Maharashtra, we gave them a hand; otherwise, they were untouchable in the state. And today, the BJP wants to destroy it," he said.

Thackeray also rejected claims that the Sena would merge with Congress and alleged the BJP was poaching leaders because it lacked majority. "Today, BJP has more outsiders than their own MPs in Parliament," he said.

'No mercy': Yogi warns of tough action against culprits

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

CHIEF Minister Yogi Adityanath on Friday said the culprits linked to the alleged theft of Ram temple donation funds will "not be spared, whosoever they might be". He urged everyone to refrain from making comments that may hurt the sentiments of Lord Ram devotees. "We have set up an SIT (to probe the donation issue) at the request of the temple trust. The SIT probe will make everything crystal clear within 15 days. I will urge everyone not to say anything that hurts the sentiments of Lord Ram devotees," Yogi said, addressing a public gathering in Ayodhya.

He said that instead of giving senseless statements, if anyone has documentary evidence to prove the alleged swindling of donations, it should be handed over to the SIT. "I will get the primary report within a week and things will come out crystal clear within 15 days. The culprit, whosoever, will not be spared," the CM said.

Yogi reminded the Ram devotees how they showed 'maryada' (dignity) and patience taught by Lord Ram for 500 years to realise the dream of a temple at Ram Janmabhoomi. "Now it is a matter of 15 days more. Just have the same patience and dignity to let the truth come out," he said.

'HAVE PATIENCE'

Yogi reminded the Ram devotees how they showed 'maryada' (dignity) and patience taught by Lord Ram for 500 years to realise the dream of a temple at Ram Janmabhoomi. "Now it is a matter of 15 days more. Just have the same patience and dignity to let the truth come out," he said." The Chief Minister also hit out at the Congress and SP for their tirade over the alleged misappropriation of the funds.

The CM hit out at the Congress and SP for their tirade over the alleged misappropriation of funds. "The Congress had opposed a Ram temple in Ayodhya for years and even questioned the existence and identity of Lord Ram. Suddenly, the same Congress has become concerned about the Ram devotees," he said. Referring to the SP, Yogi said they were the ones who opened fire on karsewaks. "Today they are giving us sermons on devotion to Lord Ram," he said.

Mishra: Need to overhaul temple management

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Lucknow

ADVOCATING restoration of the trust of Ram devotees as the foremost priority in the wake of the controversy over alleged donation swindling, Ayodhya temple construction committee chief Nripendra Mishra called for a complete overhaul of the temple management. He suggested the appointment of a CEO to supervise temple affairs.

"The proposed post of CEO should come under the ambit of Shree Ram Janmabhoomi Teerth Kshetra Trust, but it should be accorded operational autonomy for day-to-day management," Mishra said. "The magnitude of temple operations was no less than that of a small district," he added.

Mishra raised questions over the accountability and compliance of the norms that were laid down for maintaining the donation accounts. "The donation process and the maintenance of those accounts should be transparent and the details should be updated on the temple site daily," he said.

C'garh govt will provide doorstep delivery of welfare schemes: CM

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

IN a push towards effective doorstep governance, the Chhattisgarh government announced the launch of 'Sugghar Chhattisgarh'—a massive, tech-monitored campaign spanning 23 districts. The statewide initiative is designed to ensure that every eligible family directly receives the benefits of 31 flagship welfare schemes without bureaucratic delays.

Highlighting the philosophy of the drive, Chief Minister Vishnu Deo Sai said the foundation of a developed Chhattisgarh relies heavily on timely, effective, and dignified delivery of government assistance. "Our objective is not merely to implement welfare programmes but to ensure that their benefits bring visible improvements in people's lives," CM Sai said.

He emphasised that the state aims to build a proactive governance system where citizens do not have to navigate complex government corridors.

The 'Sugghar Chhattisgarh' framework models the successful 'Niyad Nella Nar' initiative, which was originally launched in 2024 to expand service delivery across the sensitive areas of the Bastar division.

Following an intermediate expansion to 10 districts under version 2.0, the government is now rolling out this aggressive saturation model across the remaining 23 districts.

The multi-sectoral campaign targets critical areas including healthcare, housing, employment, food security, and social welfare. Frontline teams will focus on ensuring complete coverage for major schemes.

To eliminate delivery gaps, the campaign will rely heavily on advanced technology. The Chhattisgarh Infotech Promotion Society is developing an integrated 'Sugghar Chhattisgarh Dashboard'.

The government will execute the campaign in three phases: Phase One (survey & mapping), Phase Two (saturation camps) and Phase Three (review & evaluation). District Collectors will spearhead execution on the ground, while Divisional Commissioners will run routine check-ins. Overall progress will be monitored by a state committee chaired by the Chief Secretary.

Vaishnaw announces ₹10K cr for Bihar rail infra

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

RAILWAY minister Ashwini Vaishnaw on Friday said the central government has allocated a record budget of more than ₹10,000 crore for the development of rail infrastructure in Bihar during the financial year 2026-27.

Vaishnaw, who was on a day-long visit to the state, flagged off the Chapra–Delhi (Anand Vihar) Express, the Mau–Delhi (Anand Vihar) Express and the extension of the Doohri Ghat–Aunrihar MEMU train service up to Varanasi in Saran.

Chief Minister Samrat Choudhary was present on the occasion, while Uttar Pradesh minister AK Sharma joined the event virtually.

Addressing the gathering in Saran, Vaishnaw said that five additional platforms were being constructed at Patna railway junction to enhance passenger capacity. Fatuha railway station near Patna is also being developed, he added.

Vaishnaw added that in the last 12 years under the leadership of PM Narendra Modi, a total of 2,034 km of new railway tracks had been laid in Bihar. "Bullet train connectivity from Delhi to Lucknow, Lucknow to Varanasi, Varanasi to Patna and Patna to Siliguri will begin in the coming years. The journey time from Delhi to Patna will be reduced to just 4 hours and 41 minutes once the bullet train becomes operational," he informed.

Besides, the Centre is also planning to introduce 200 new trains for the state in the next seven to eight years, he stated.

Paperless working systems for station masters soon

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

THE Indian Railways (IR) is considering introducing mobile app-based, paperless working systems for station masters and is developing an integrated Station Management System (SMS) to improve coordination among railway departments and ensure faster resolution of passenger-related issues. Union Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw reviewed the progress of these initiatives with officials and discussed emerging challenges faced by station masters.

Recognising their role in safe train operations, coordination with departments, management of passenger amenities and smooth station functioning, the Railways reviewed proposals to strengthen their administrative and operational powers, improve career progression and provide greater access to higher management levels.

Officials said the proposed measures would help station masters make quicker decisions, improve passenger services, and oversee station infrastructure, staff offices, railway colonies, and related facilities more effectively. The meeting examined growing operational requirements and the need for additional station masters in multi-track and high-density sections, where traffic and operational complexity have increased.

UK PM Starmer's job could be on the line as Burnham wins crunch by-election

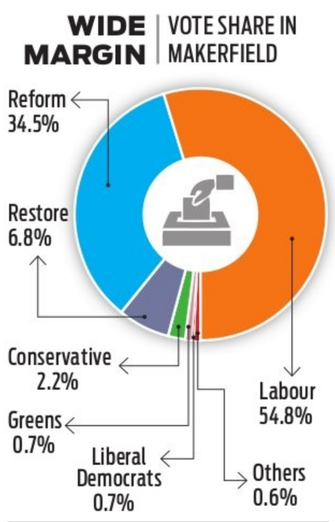
LONDON

VETERAN UK Labour politician Andy Burnham vowed to put Britain on a new path after winning a crunch by-election Friday as Prime Minister Keir Starmer pledged to fight any bid to oust him from office.

Burnham, a former government minister who has been Greater Manchester mayor for the past nine years, ensured his return to parliament by easily beating the far-right Reform UK party's candidate in the Makerfield constituency in northwest England.

The 56-year-old stalwart of Labour's centre-left is seeking to replace Starmer as party leader and prime minister, and needed to win the high-stakes vote to be in a position to trigger such a contest.

"I do say to my own party, this is a final chance to change," Burnham said in his acceptance speech after securing close to 55 percent of the vote, beating Reform's Robert Kenyon by a margin of more than 9,000 ballots.



"We've been on path for 40 years that simply hasn't worked for people and places in this part of the world," Burnham told cheering crowds on Friday.

"This is the change moment, we have an opportunity to turn the tide," he said, adding: "We're going to lay out a new path for Britain."

Starmer congratulated Burnham, but pledged to fight any leadership challenge during a public appearance in London Friday morning.

"If there is a contest then yes I will run, I will stand. I've said repeatedly, I'm not going to walk away from that," he told reporters.

The 63-year-old ex-lawyer has repeatedly refused to quit despite dozens of calls from his own MPs and several ministerial resignations. He insists his landslide election victory over the Conservatives in July 2024 gave him a five-year mandate to govern.

The Times daily reported that ministers were meeting Starmer Friday afternoon to tell him his "time is up" and he should set out a timetable for "orderly transition".

They reportedly included interior minister Shabana Mahmood and energy minister Ed Miliband. If Starmer does leave office this year, then Britain will get its seventh prime minister in 10 years.

Burnham is due to be sworn in as a member of parliament on Monday. Under Labour party rules, any leadership candidate must be an MP. AFP

Israel, Hezbollah agree to halt fighting, says US

Vance's planned weekend negotiations in Switzerland put on hold

BEIRUT

ISRAEL and the Iranian-backed Hezbollah militant group agreed Friday to halt the heavy fighting in southern Lebanon that had threatened to unravel an interim agreement between the United States and Iran to end their war, officials said. Neither Israel nor Hezbollah immediately confirmed the truce.

It came after a heavy exchange of fire killed 47 people in Lebanon and four Israeli soldiers.

Hours after officials told news organisations about the truce, Israeli artillery fire could still be heard from northern Israel along the Lebanese border, and a large explosion was seen erupting inside Lebanon, according to an AP journalist in northern Israel.

Israeli PM Benjamin Netanyahu posted Friday on X that, on his orders, the Israeli army had "struck powerfully" 150 Hezbollah targets, killing dozens of militants.

Military spokesman Brig. General Effie Defrin said the military has not received different instructions from the government. He said Israeli forces were operating in a "forward defence zone" and would continue doing so.

The Lebanon clashes had threatened the deal between Washington and Tehran to end the war, after the postponement of planned talks in Switzerland featuring US Vice President JD Vance.

Vance had been prepared to make an overnight flight Friday to meet with his Iranian counterparts at a mountainside resort in the tiny Swiss village of Obburgen and begin the technical talks.

His staff and a small pack of journalists had even gathered at Joint Base Andrews outside Washington in anticipation of the trip. Meanwhile, dozens of White House officials, advance staffers and more media gathered in Switzerland to prepare for Vance's anticipated arrival.

WAR WATCH

But then abruptly on Thursday evening the trip was called off—at least for the time being. The White House issued a statement explaining Vance—who has been tapped by President Donald Trump to lead the negotiations—and his delegation were prepared for talks, but they were unable to finalize plans and the vice president would remain in Washington. The announcement followed a report from Al-Mayadeen, a Pan-Arab satellite channel, that Iran was delaying sending its delegation to Switzerland over Israel's ongoing military campaign.

Iran introduces 48-hour permit plan for access to Hormuz

TEHRAN

IRAN'S maritime authority said on Friday that all ships seeking to cross the Strait of Hormuz should submit a transit request "48 hours in advance", despite its reopening after a US-Iran agreement to end the war.

"To avoid delays at the entrance or exit of the Strait of Hormuz, it is essential that transit requests, complete with all the required information, are submitted at least 48 hours prior to arriving at the strait area," the Persian Gulf Strait Authority said on X.

Meanwhile, data showed shipping traffic through the Strait of Hormuz rose to its highest rate in two months after a deal to halt the US-Iran war. A total of 25 commercial vessels crossed the newly reopened strait on Thursday, the highest number since mid-April, according to data from tracking firm AXSMarine.

The spike came after Iran and the United States agreed this week to re-open the crucial route under an agreement to end the war, but before the postponement of talks between the sides in Switzerland that had been planned for Friday under that deal.

On June 18 "we observed 25 verified commercial vessel crossings through the Strait of Hormuz—the highest single-day count since 18 April and more than five times the average daily level recorded during the first ten days of June", AXSMarine said.

Iranian forces effectively closed off the strait after US and Israeli strikes sparked the war on February 28. Maritime authorities reported dozens of attacks on ships in the area. Iran later briefly re-opened the global trade artery to commercial traffic, prompting a short peak in crossings on April 18.

Under US pressure, Cuba adopts free-market reforms

HAVANA

CUBAN lawmakers on Thursday adopted nearly 200 historic free-market reforms aimed at rescuing the communist island from a severe crisis aggravated by a US oil blockade.

In a landmark speech to the National Assembly, Prime Minister Manuel Marrero unveiled 176 measures aimed at rolling back the state's role in the economy and attracting investment in everything from banking to tourism and agriculture.

Under the reforms, foreign investors are no longer required to form joint ventures with the state, large private enterprises will be authorized and both Cuban and foreign investors will be allowed to acquire stakes in state companies.

These and other huge changes come as the United States exerts relentless pressure on the island, with President Donald Trump musing openly about taking over the Caribbean nation just 145 km from Florida. Daniel Torralbas, a London-based Cuban economist, described the reforms as "the most profound" since the 1959 revolution led by Fidel Castro. They were adopted in a unanimous show of hands by lawmakers at a session which ended with President Miguel Diaz-Canel intoning Castro's famous revolutionary slogan: "Socialism or death!" AFP

Meloni blasts Don for saying she begged him for a pic

ROME

ITALY reacted angrily on Friday after reported comments by US President Donald Trump mocking Prime Minister Giorgia Meloni, with the foreign minister cancelling a planned US visit.

Meloni said she was "frankly stunned" by Trump's comments to Italian channel La7.

According to a written transcript of the phone interview provided to AFP by the network, he said Meloni "begged me for a picture" at the G7 summit this week and he agreed only because he "felt sorry for her".

He also suggested that Meloni was probably "happy that I talked to her, I didn't have to talk to her".

Giorgia Meloni

Meloni called what Trump said "made up", adding: "Neither I nor Italy ever beg." "I don't know why the president of the United States behaves this way with his own allies," the far-right leader wrote on X.

"I can only say that it's a pity he doesn't show the same determination with enemies of the West, with enemies of the United States, with leaders with whom, instead, he is far more accommodating," she said.

Italian Foreign Minister Antonio Tajani on X called Trump's words "grave and offensive" and said he was cancelling a visit to the US planned for June 21 and 22.

Justice Minister Carlo Nordio said the comments were a "painful injury" to Italy-US ties, while Defence Minister Guido Crosetto said "these jokes do not benefit anyone".

At the end of the G7 summit in Evian on Wednesday, Meloni had spoken of a "very positive climate" and "no friction" between Trump and other world leaders present.

But she also said she and Trump both had "quite strong characters". She was seen several times with the US president at the summit including a meeting on a sofa after which he appeared to pat her shoulder. AFP

US funded dangerous research at lab linked to Covid outbreak: Tulsi

WASHINGTON

ON her last day in office, US intelligence director Tulsi Gabbard released newly declassified documents alleging that Anthony Fauci, the former head of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID), provided US funding for dangerous research on bat coronaviruses at the Wuhan Institute of Virology, which is at the centre of the COVID-leak theory.

In a press release, the Office of the Director of National Intelligence said Fauci funded risky coronavirus research linked to Big Pharma and the pursuit of universal vaccines worth trillions of dollars.

"Today, on my final day as Director of National Intelligence, I'm releasing never-before-seen communications and documents exposing how Dr Fauci provided millions in US taxpayer dollars to fund dangerous gain-of-function research at the Wuhan lab, worked with politicized elements within the Intelligence Community to suppress the truth about his actions and hide the virus's lab-leak origins, and lied to Congress while under oath in 2024. It's time you know the truth," Gabbard said in a video statement.

Fauci's close relationships in the intelligence community enabled him to evade scrutiny.

The intelligence analysts who challenged his COVID-origin conclusions faced retaliation, were marginalised, and often suffered career setbacks, Gabbard's office said. "This silenced dissent and fostered a culture where truth was sacrificed to conformity and credible evidence was buried," it said.

It said Fauci was the behind-the-scenes advisor who, with his hand-picked experts, pushed the intelligence community to endorse a natural, animal origin to hide his dangerous research. As the nation's pandemic "pundit", he publicly pushed lies, disinformation, and censorship.

Congressman flags hate crimes targeting Indians

Washington: Congressman Raja Krishnamoorthi has voiced concern on the increase in anti-India hate incidents in the US and urged Americans to stand against bigotry, prejudice and discrimination. In a social media post on Thursday, the Democratic lawmaker cited an incident in Frisco city in Texas where a group of White supremacists shouted anti-India slogans and tore the Indian flag in front of City Hall. "I want to sound the alarm on the rise of anti-Indian hate in the US. Just a couple of weeks ago, in Frisco, Texas, a group of white supremacists appeared in front of City Hall and said the following: they said, 'Go back to India, stop the Hindu takeover of Texas'."

Jio files DRHP with SEBI, to raise ₹37k cr

Analysts say Jio's post-issue valuation could range between ₹12.5L cr and ₹13L cr; co to use proceeds for debt repayment, corporate purposes

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

JIO Platforms, the digital service arm of billionaire Mukesh Ambani's Reliance Industries Ltd (RIL), is all set to launch India's largest initial public offer (IPO) as the company filed its draft red herring prospectus (DRHP) with market regulator SEBI on Friday. Industry sources estimate the IPO at $4 billion or ₹37,700 crore, well over the widely speculated ₹30,000 crore issue of the NSE and Hyundai Motor's ₹27,870 crore offer in October 2024.

As per the DRHP, Jio's IPO is structured as a primary issuance of 270 million (27 cr) equity shares, representing nearly 2.9% of post-issue share capital. As per market analysts, Jio's post-issue valuation could range between ₹12.5 and ₹13 lakh crore, making it one of the most valuable companies on bourses by market capitalisation.

The company aims to use the proceeds for repayment/prepayment of outstanding borrowings of ₹27,500 crore and general corporate purposes. "The capital raise positions Jio Platforms for its next phase of growth, while further strengthening its balance sheet. Net proceeds from the issue are proposed to be used primarily for repayment/prepayment of outstanding borrowings and general corporate purposes," the draft paper stated.

Morgan Stanley and Kotak Mahindra Capital are acting as the lead bookrunners for the transaction. Meanwhile, the draft paper stated that none of Jio's global partners like Meta and Google, are selling their stake in the IPO. In 2020, Jio Platforms raised ₹43,574 crore from Meta/Facebook for a 9.99% stake and ₹33,737 crore from Google for a 7.73% stake.

In addition, Jio Platforms raised nearly ₹74,745 crore for 15.2% stake from a marquee group of global financial sponsors, sovereign investors and strategic investors, including Silver Lake, Vista Equity Partners, General Atlantic, KKR, Mubadala, ADIA, TPG, L Catterton, PIF, Intel Capital and Qualcomm Ventures. "This represented ₹1.52 lakh crore /$20.3 billion capital raise for 33% stake. None of these sellers are selling in the IPO, highlighting their continued commitment towards Jio Platforms and their conviction in the company's next phase of growth," the draft paper said. The listing will mark an important milestone for the Reliance Group. The IPO would be the first IPO from the group since 2008, and its first-ever consumer-focused company IPO.

Jio Platforms' revenue from operations grew to ₹146,885 crore in fiscal 2026 from ₹109,558 crore in fiscal 2024, representing a 15.8% compounded annual growth rate (CAGR), and EBITDA increasing to ₹76,255 crore from ₹54,959 crore, representing a 17.8% CAGR. Profitability has continued to expand, with EBITDA margin improving to 51.91% in fiscal 2026 from 50.16% in fiscal 2024, supported by scale benefits, proprietary technology, automation and network operating leverage.

RIL raised LPG supply 4-fold during Hormuz disruption: Anant Ambani

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

RELIANCE Industries on Friday said it increased LPG (Liquefied Petroleum Gas) supplies four-fold to help the country manage import disruptions caused by the conflict in West Asia. The conflict, which lasted for more than 100 days, disrupted shipping through the Strait of Hormuz, a key global energy route through which a significant portion of India's crude oil, LNG and LPG imports pass.

Speaking at the company's 49th Annual General Meeting (AGM), Executive Director Anant Ambani said Reliance was able to maintain near-full refinery operations during the disruption through diversified crude sourcing and flexible logistics.

"We increased LPG supply four-fold to help the nation tide over the import disruption. This is the structural advantage of building the world's most integrated, most flexible, most resilient refining and chemicals complex," said Anant Ambani.

He said the conflict affected refining margins as crude cargoes became more expensive and transportation costs increased. According to Ambani, physical crude barrels commanded a premium during the period, while freight rates and insurance costs also surged because of the geopolitical tensions.

He also highlighted the role of Reliance's domestic gas production in supporting India's energy needs during the crisis. The company's KG-D6 and coal-bed methane (CBM) fields together form one of India's most productive natural gas platforms.

"When the West Asian conflict disrupted LNG supplies, Reliance swiftly redirected its domestic gas to priority sectors such as city gas distribution, fertilisers, and power generation. When the nation needed it most, Reliance delivered," said Anant Ambani.

Ambani said Reliance's KG basin fields continued to perform in line with expectations during FY26. Gas production stood at nearly 26 million metric standard cubic metres per day (MMSCMD), accounting for about 30 per cent of India's total natural gas production.

The company's oil production was nearly 18,000 barrels per day during the year.

Co scaling up mfg capacity for consumer products biz

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

RELIANCE Industries Ltd (RIL) is building an advanced manufacturing and an export platforms to strengthen its consumer products ecosystem and expand global footprint, Chairman and MD Mukesh Ambani said on Friday.

"Reliance Retail is now poised for another great leap forward. Between Reliance Retail and Reliance Consumer Products Ltd (RCPL), we will add two powerful growth-boosting platforms - an Advanced Manufacturing Platform and an Exports platform," he said at the 49th AGM of Reliance Industries.

Ambani said that they are building a manufacturing platform extending from beverages and daily essentials to one of the most unorganised categories – fresh fruits and vegetables. He added that they are also building a future-ready garment manufacturing ecosystem, which will deliver better-quality garments to customers at the most competitive cost.

"We have created supplier partnerships in 21 pan-India clusters, where these garments will be manufactured. We will do the same for adordable electronics – from smart eyewear to televisions, smartphones, and connected wearables – with a focus on superior customer service," he said.

Ambani stated that the exports platform is a logical extension of the manufacturing platform in retail.

In FY26, the value of sales and services of Reliance Retail was ₹3,71,085 crore, up 12.1% year-on-year.

SINGAPORE

ECONOMY TO EXPAND BY 3.5% IN 2026

Private-sector economists expect Singapore's economy to expand by 3.5% in 2026, a tad weaker than their previous forecast of 3.6%, on slower growth in private consumption – a measure of spending by households on goods and services. The latest quarterly survey of professional forecasters was sent out by the Monetary Authority of Singapore (MAS) on May 25, well before the United States and Iran agreed on June 14 on a 60-day ceasefire deal that is likely to normalise oil and natural gas flows from the Middle East. In response to the ceasefire deal and amid hopes that shipments through the Strait of Hormuz would continue to increase in the coming weeks, crude oil and natural gas prices have dropped significantly and will likely ease further.

MALAYSIA

EXPORTS SURGE 45.3% IN MAY

Malaysia's exports rose by 45.3% in May from a year ago, driven by sustained demand for electrical and electronic products, government data showed on Friday (Jun 19). The rise in outbound shipments was the quickest since August 2022, when exports rose 48.2%, London Stock Exchange Group data showed. Exports to the US rose by 97.7% from a year ago, while shipments to China jumped by 27.8%. Imports in May grew 14.1% from a year earlier, the data showed. Analysts were expecting a 16% rise. Malaysia saw a trade surplus of RM40.4 billion (S$12.2 bn) in May, higher than the poll forecast of a RM23 billion surplus. Separate data released on Friday showed Malaysia's consumer price index rose a 2% in May from a year earlier.

THAILAND

S&P UPHOLDS CREDIT RATING AT 'BBB+'

S&P Global Ratings has affirmed Thailand's sovereign credit rating at "BBB+" with a stable outlook, citing confidence in the country's economic fundamentals and the government's policy direction. As per the Thai Public Debt Management Office, S&P forecasts Thailand's economy to grow at 2% in 2026, reflecting the impact of volatility in global energy markets that has weighed on domestic economic activity. The Thai economy is expected to recover from 2027 onward, with growth projected to average 2.3% over the 2026-2029 period, the rating agency said. S&P said the new government's political stability supports policy continuity, facilitating the advancement of economic restructuring and investment projects under the long-term national strategy.

PHILIPPINES

CENTRAL BANK HIKES RATE TO CURB INFLATION

The Philippine central bank raised its key interest rate by 25 basis points for a second time in a row. Governor Eli Remolona said another increase is possible in August with inflationary pressures still strong despite an interim US-Iran peace deal. The Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas raised its target reverse repurchase rate by a quarter of a point to 4.75% on Thursday. The Philippine peso fell 0.3% against dollar after the BSP's latest move, with the rate increase smaller than some had forecast. The main stock index trimmed gains. The monetary tightening underlines the caution taken by Asia's central banks.

Amber Group to make Oppo, Realme, One Plus phones

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

INDIA'S leading electronics contract manufacturer Amber Enterprises has signed a deal with Oppo India to produce mobile phones of Oppo, One Plus and Realme, a company statement said on Thursday.

Under this collaboration, Amber Group will manufacture mobile phones for Oppo, combining the company's global product expertise with the Indian partner's manufacturing scale, operational capabilities, capability to enhance local value addition and local supply chain strengths.

This new deal expands Amber Group's entry into large-scale smartphone production, moving beyond its usual manufacturing of consumer durables and electronics components.

This development comes amid government's push to localise electronics manufacturing. Speaking on the announcement, Jasbir Singh, executive chairman & CEO, Amber Enterprises India, said: "We are excited for this manufacturing collaboration with OPPO India. This collaboration underscores our manufacturing capabilities and ability to support globally recognised brands with quality, reliability, value addition and scale."

The collaboration is likely to create opportunities for operational synergies and reinforce Amber's position as a preferred entity for B2B manufacturing.

Both companies will work closely to ensure a ramp-up and to explore additional opportunities for future collaboration. Amber Enterprises has 27 manufacturing plants across India, with its flagship operations based in Rajpura and Punjab. Recently, it had received 100 acre land near Jewar Airport in Greater Noida to produce printed circuit boards (PCBs), consumer appliances and white goods.

MONETARY POLICY

5.1%
Inflation outlook RBI projects for FY27 on West Asia crisis, food prices

RBI MPC MAINTAINS STATUS QUO, CITES INFLATION RISKS

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

FEARS of inflation going out of control due to the West Asia conflict (which ended on Friday) and the impact on food prices due to the deficit monsoon forecast have kept RBI's monetary policy committee (MPC) members on a "wait and watch mode" at the June meeting.

The six-member panel unanimously voted to keep policy rates unchanged even as they maintained neutral policy stance. The members don't see the commodity prices, especially the crude prices falling back to the pre-war levels anytime soon.

Driven by these fears, the panel at its 61st meeting held during June 3-5, revised upwards inflation outlook to 5.1% for the current fiscal, with Q3 printing in at 5.9%. On the one hand, inflation is inching up to 4.7% for FY27, on the other, they scaled down growth forecast to 6.6%, hinting that the Iran war impact will continue to linger on for many quarters more. Voting in for maintaining the status quo on the policy rate at 5.25%, Governor Sanjay Malhotra, said, "I would prefer to adopt a 'wait and watch' approach and we should remain watchful and wary about the generalisation of inflation in the coming months."

However, he said, "Our economic situation is quite strong and healthy vis-a-vis many of our peers as we are in a much better position today not only in terms of current shock but also with respect to all earlier shocks."

Furthering his call for caution, the governor said, "Though headline inflation continues to remain within the target, CPI is now projected to be above target at 5.1%. The increasing inflation trajectory for FY27 with its peak of 5.9% in Q3, which is close to the upper tolerance level of 6%, may suggest the need for monetary policy action.

SEBI reintroduces open mkt share buyback from August 1

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

CAPITAL markets regulator SEBI on Friday decided to reintroduce open market share buybacks with a faster execution timeline from August 1.

Now the open market share buybacks will be completed within 66 working days from the opening date if at least 40% of funds earmarked have been utilised during the period.

The move is aimed at providing companies with an additional, faster mechanism to repurchase shares from the secondary market. Under the proposed framework, the buyback timeline is capped at 60 days during which time promoter holdings will be frozen to prevent potential misuse. The SEBI wants companies doing the buyback to notify shareholders electronically within one day of initiating the buyback, SEBI chairman Tuhin Kanta Pandey told reporters here on Friday after board meeting.

NEW MECHANISM

1. Open market share buybacks will be completed within 66 working days
2. To provide cos faster mechanism to repurchase shares from market

Reintroducing this method would provide companies with an additional mechanism for undertaking buybacks while ensuring equitable opportunity and tax treatment for public shareholders.

The board approved a range of proposals, including relaxation of intraday borrowing norms for mutual funds and simplification of securities transfer procedure after an investor's death, along with simpler norms for alternate investment funds. The board to establish a green-channel mechanism — Garuda— to speed up launch of AIF schemes. This allows them to begin fundraising within 10 working days of filing placement memorandums as against current waiting period of 30 days. The board approved measures to revive agricultural commodity derivatives trading.

The SEBI cleared a proposal allowing MFs to use intraday borrowing lines for a wider range of cash management needs, including trade settlements, forex obligations and derivative margin payments beyond just meeting redemption payouts.

IT sector stares at delayed recovery, AI disruption

PADMINI DHRUVARAJ @ Bengaluru

ACCENTURE'S weaker outlook and softer bookings have deepened concerns over a delayed recovery in India's IT sector, with investors fearing AI disruption and subdued client spending could extend into FY27.

Shares of Indian IT companies fell on Friday after Accenture lowered the upper end of its annual revenue growth forecast and reported lower-than-expected new bookings for Q3. Its results are seen as an indicator of demand trends for Indian software exporters, which derive a large part of their business from global clients.

The Nifty IT index hit a three-year low and has been the worst performing index. Stocks such as Infosys, HCLTech, Wipro, Tech Mahindra and LTIMindtree ended 2-7% lower on the National Stock Exchange.

> Investors had already priced in a weak start to FY27 but had expected improvement from Q3. But, after Accenture's earnings it looks unlikely that FY27 will be any better than FY26 — Analyst

Accenture also flagged deal delays and said the conflict in West Asia would have a $400 million impact on its business in the region. The company now expects annual revenue growth of 3% to 4% as against its earlier forecast of 3% to 5%.

Its results added to concerns around India's $315 billion IT industry, which is facing questions over whether AI could disrupt its labour-intensive outsourcing model. Geopolitical and economic uncertainty have also weighed on technology spending as clients defer non-essential projects.

Brokerages said Accenture's comments could delay expectations of a recovery in spending. "Investors had already priced in a weak start to FY27 but had expected improvement from Q3. But, after Accenture's earnings it looks unlikely that FY27 will be any better than FY26," an analyst who tracks the sector at Kotak Institutional Equities said. "Indian IT companies have limited direct exposure to the Middle East, so that might not be a concern. The key risks still are delay in deal closures, and slower ramp-ups," he said.

Jefferies said Accenture's revised revenue outlook could lead to cuts in consensus estimates across the sector. The brokerage said soft growth on a low base could raise concerns over the long-term growth outlook and lead to further derating.

How hydration break helped Swiss win crucial tie

GREG BEACHAM

SOME teams at this year's World Cup have blamed FIFA's new hydration breaks for killing momentum. Switzerland used the break to seize it.

Coach Murat Yakin said he timed a triple substitution of speedy players for the second-half pause Thursday, betting that plucky Bosnia-Herzegovina couldn't handle an abrupt change of pace in what had been a nervy, scoreless match. Johan Manzambi and Rubén Vargas made their coach look awfully clever while they led a spectacular barrage of goals that put the Swiss in control of the game and atop their group.

Manzambi scored his first World Cup goal on an outstanding volley in the 74th minute, and Switzerland erupted late for a 4-1 victory over Bosnia. Despite controlling possession deep into the second half, Switzerland couldn't break through against the Dragons until Yakin used the FIFA-mandated pause to turbo-charge its attack with the 20-year-old Manzambi and the dynamic Vargas.

Both substitutes immediately altered the tempo, and both played roles in multiple goals while Bosnia went down to 10 men. "It was very important that after the second hydration break, we would change a few things, because then the opponent can't react immediately," Yakin said through an interpreter.

"Maybe that was the edge we had. We brought in very fast players, and our opponent couldn't run (with them), and it opened up gaps on the edge. That was my strategy. I waited until the break." AP

Iran to lodge plaint over restrictions

TIJUANA (MEXICO): The Iranian football federation said it will lodge a complaint with FIFA claiming its team is being subjected to travel restrictions during the World Cup in North America. "Despite having submitted its preparation schedule for the tournament well in advance, Iran's national football team has once again encountered restrictions imposed by the organizers, affecting the implementation of its technical staff's plans," the federation said.

WC star Hakimi to stand trial

VERSAILLES (FRANCE): A French appeals court on Friday confirmed Moroccan football star Achraf Hakimi will stand trial charged with raping a young woman. In February 2023, a woman then aged 24 told police in the Val-De-Marne region southeast of Paris that Hakimi had raped her. The Champions league winner with Paris Saint-Germain and captain of the Moroccan national team, whose side are playing their second World Cup match on Friday against Scotland, has denied the allegations.

Canada's Kone to undergo surgery

VANCOUVER: Canada's historic first World Cup victory was overshadowed by a gruesome injury to midfielder Ismaël Kone. Kone injured his left leg when Qatar midfielder Assim Madibo tackled him from behind in the second half, sending the 24-year-old to the ground. Kone grimaced and players rushed to his aid, calling for help from the sidelines. Kone was whisked to a local hospital were he was preparing for surgery while surrounded by family, Canada coach Jesse Marsch said. He said the injury happened right in front of the bench, and you could hear the "bones snap."

RONALDO JUST ANOTHER PLAYER?

Controversy erupts after Neves comment on legend; fans attack Portuguese players online

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

LIONEL Messi, Kylian Mbappe, Erling Haaland and Harry Kane all made blistering starts to the World Cup. And then there was Cristiano Ronaldo. The Portuguese superstar cut a frustrating figure during his team's 1-1 draw against DR Congo on Wednesday. His 25 touches were his fewest in a game at a major tournament for Portugal while playing a full match.

It was a tame show to say the least by a player of his lofty standard. Ronaldo understandably didn't speak to reporters after the game but he posted about the match on X. "It wasn't the start we wanted, but this is far from over," he wrote. "Head up and focus on the next game." Then the sharp criticism followed.

If that was not enough, a controversy started brewing after goalscorer Joao Neves' post-match comments on Ronaldo. Though the quote did not sound at all critical, it caused a huge uproar on social media with many fans defending the 41-year-old. "We know what Cristiano has done for us, for Portugal, and for football, but at this moment, he and we know that he's no different. He's just another player here to help. He's no different from the others. He's here to contribute, just like all of us," Neves had said. The Portuguese mid-fielder was giving his views in his local language and his words could be misinterpreted but there are clear signs that the team is under massive pressure.

Neves and his family were reportedly subjected to harassment on social media that could be termed as cyberattack. Bruno Fernandes, who has previously been accused of creating tensions in the camp, has also been subjected to a barrage of abuses on social media. So much so that even Portugal legend Luis Figo has given his two cents to avoid a potential car crash.

"Cristiano Ronaldo is one of the greatest players in football history. Nobody is denying that. But respect for Cristiano should never become hatred towards every teammate who makes a different football decision," Figo said. Roberto Martinez, while addressing a press conference on Friday, tried to pacify the situation.

"I think that statement can easily be misunderstood. Cristiano Ronaldo's position in this squad can never be underestimated. We are talking about one of the greatest players in football history. He has done it all," Martinez said, when asked about Neves' comments about the forward.

"He has scored more goals for Portugal than anyone else, broken countless records, and even today he never stops fighting for this country. That is the reality." As his career has progressed and his pace ebbed, Ronaldo has moved from the wings to central striker position. He had his chances against the DRC, twice stabbing the ball wide after being set up by Francisco Conceicao. With Ronaldo and Portugal increasingly desperate, he took away a cut-back destined for Fernandes, who was in a better position to score.

Former France striker Thierry Henry accused Ronaldo of being selfish. Henry said on Fox: "The team needs to score, not you need to score."

Portugal's next match is against Uzbekistan on Tuesday.

MEXICAN WAVE IN GUADALAJARA

Mexico players celebrate their 1-0 win over South Korea on Thursday | AP

AGENCIES @ Guadalajara

MEXICO took advantage of a defensive blunder by South Korea to win 1-0 and become the first team to advance to the knockout stage of the World Cup on Thursday, sending fans onto the streets across the country to celebrate.

It marks a major triumph for a team that failed to get out of the group stage in 2022 and now has won twice on home soil in front of jubilant crowds. As soon as the final whistle blew, the mariachis began to sing at the Ángel of Independence in Mexico City while thousands of people walked in from all directions. Some streets in Guadalajara were filled with drivers honking horns and fans chanting and waving Mexican flags.

Luis Romo scored in the 50th minute after South Korea goalkeeper Kim Seung-gyu collided with defender Lee Gi-hyuk. The South Koreans nearly equalized in the 87th minute when Mexico goalkeeper Raúl Rangel stopped a header from close range by Cho Gue-sung, then made an even better save of Yang Hyun-jun's attempt on the rebound, extending his right arm to keep the ball from crossing the line.

"It was very quick, it was pure reaction," Rangel said. "I couldn't really tell you what I saw, because I remember the moment of impact with my teammate and me having the ball." Results: Group A: Czech Republic 1 (Sadilek 6') drew with South Africa 1 (Mokoena 83'-pen); Mexico 1 (Romo 50') bt South Korea 0. Group B: Switzerland 4 (Manzambi 74', 90', Vargas 84', Xhaka 90+7') bt Bosnia-Herzegovina 1 (Mahmic 90+3'); Canada 6 (Larin 16', David 29', 45+3', 90+2', Saliba 64', Manai 75'-og) bt Qatar 0.

Cape Verde's flight paths

For its World Cup debut, the smallest nation by population at the tournament is paying homage to the roughly 525,000 inhabitants who live on 10 volcanic islands off the coast of Africa. A geometric, triangular print across both their blue (home) and white (away) jerseys represents the network of flight paths that connect people across the islands.

Haiti's battle scene

The original jersey submitted by Haiti included a depiction of the final battle of the Haitian War of Independence in 1803 on its front. In the words of Colombian sportswear manufacturer Saeta, it was a "tribute to the men and women who contribute every day to Haiti's future." It didn't go down too well with FIFA, which rejected the image during its approval process, deeming it too political.

Argentina's swirling paint technique

The reigning champions are mixing sporting heritage with artistic expression.The home kit — worn by Lionel Messi for his hat trick against Algeria on Tuesday — features three shades of blue on its stripes, an homage to ther World Cup-winning uniforms from 1978, 1986 and 2022. The away jersey inspired by a painting technique from capital city Buenos Aires.

Iran's endangered Asiatic cheetah

The most striking imagery on Iran's home (white) and away (red) kits is an Asiatic cheetah low across the front. The Asiatic cheetah, an equally fast cousin of the African cat, is one of the world's critically endangered species — one that Iran has long tried to save. There were as many as 400 in the 1990s but only estimated 70 remain in Iran.

Given his lofty standards, Neeraj had a modest opening in the first two throws but he gained ground with his third that measured 85.69m, an effort that pushed him to third behind Grenada's Anderson Peters, who managed a better throw of 86.38m in his second attempt.

The latest 90m-club sensation, Rumesh Pathirage, climbed to the top with his fourth throw of 88.68m.

Neeraj eventually finished fourth, a position he was not accustomed with before the World Championships in Tokyo last year. Neeraj, the greatest track and field athlete India has produced, is still struggling to find his impeccable form.

Atlantic 'cold blob' may be rewiring India's monsoon

While the cold blob has previously been associated with European heat waves and changes in Atlantic weather systems, the new research suggests its influence extends thousands of kilometres away into the heart of the Indian summer monsoon.

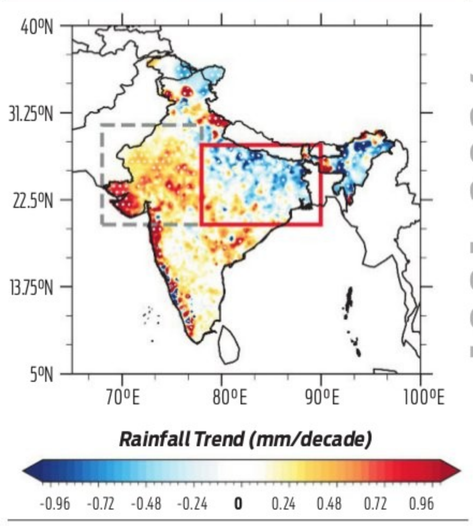
> Our work shows that changes in the North Atlantic can also play a major role in determining where rain falls across India,

S V KRISHNA CHAITANYA @Chennai

A mysterious patch of cooling water in the North Atlantic Ocean, known as the 'Atlantic Cold Blob', may be reshaping the Indian summer monsoon and influencing rainfall patterns across South Asia, according to a new study that links distant ocean changes to dramatic shifts in rainfall over India. The study, led by climate scientist Nimmakanti Mahendra of Purdue University and collaborators, provides evidence that cooling sea-surface temperatures south of Greenland are altering atmospheric circulation patterns across Eurasia, ultimately redistributing monsoon rainfall across India. The findings help explain why northwest India has become significantly wetter in recent decades while parts of the Indo-Gangetic Plains have experienced declining rainfall.

The researchers found that since 1999, monsoon rainfall over northwest India has increased by about 24.6 per cent, while rainfall over the Indo-Gangetic Plains has declined. This emerging rainfall dipole has become increasingly evident in observations but has largely been missed by leading climate models. The shift matters enormously because the Indian monsoon supports agriculture, water supplies and livelihoods for nearly one-fifth of humanity. Changes in where rainfall falls can trigger floods in some regions and droughts in others, affecting food production, groundwater recharge and economic stability.

The Indo-Gangetic Plains, one of the world's most densely populated and agriculturally productive regions, have already witnessed drying trends. Previous studies cited by the researchers suggest the recent decline in rainfall in parts of the Ganga basin may be among the most severe arid conditions recorded in over a millennium.



Atlantic Cold Blob

The Atlantic Cold Blob is an area of unusually cool ocean water located in the sub-polar North Atlantic, south of Greenland. Scientists believe it is linked to a slowdown of the Atlantic Meridional Overturning Circulation (AMOC), a vast system of ocean currents that transports warm water northward and helps regulate global climate.

"What is happening in recent years is that Arctic, Greenland ice melt run-off and precipitation is putting a lot of freshwater into the North Atlantic," Mahendra told TNIE. "That freshwater dilutes the salty ocean water and weakens the deep-water formation process. As a result, a cold blob develops south of Greenland while the Gulf Stream region becomes warmer, creating a stronger temperature gradient." He explained that under normal conditions, the Gulf Stream transports heat and salt northwards.

However, increasing freshwater from melting Arctic ice, rainfall and Greenland ice-sheet discharge is disrupting that process, weakening ocean circulation and creating the distinctive cooling patch. While the cold blob has previously been associated with European heat waves and changes in Atlantic weather systems, the new research suggests its influence extends thousands of kilometres away into the heart of the Asian monsoon.

Greenland and Indian rainfall

The study proposes that the cold blob alters temperature contrasts across the North Atlantic, which then affects the behaviour of the mid-latitude jet stream, a fast-moving ribbon of air high in the atmosphere.

These changes trigger large-scale atmospheric waves known as Rossby waves, which travel eastward across Europe and Asia. The waves modify the strength and position of the Asian subtropical jet stream, particularly over Central Asia and the Tibetan Plateau region. The researchers identified a mechanism called the "barotropic governor effect". In simple terms, this process redistributes atmospheric energy and momentum within the jet stream, strengthening its core while weakening adjacent regions. "This stronger temperature gradient creates an environment that amplifies the westerly jet stream," Mahendra said. "The energy generated over the North Atlantic is transferred eastward through atmospheric waves and eventually reaches the Asian jet stream north of India, altering monsoon circulation." As the jet stream changes, so does the monsoon circulation beneath it. Moisture-bearing winds are redirected westward, leading to enhanced rainfall over northwest India and Pakistan while reducing moisture transport into parts of the Indo-Gangetic Plains.

"The circulation changes create low-level convergence over northwest India, pulling moisture from the Arabian Sea and producing heavy rainfall in regions where we would not normally expect such intense monsoon precipitation," he said. To test the theory, the team ran climate model experiments in which they imposed the observed North Atlantic sea-surface temperature pattern while keeping other oceans unchanged. The simulations successfully reproduced the observed rainfall increase over northwest India and decline over the Indo-Gangetic Plains, strengthening confidence in the proposed mechanism.

Why climate models missed it

One of the study's most significant findings is that many state-of-the-art climate models fail to capture the observed Atlantic cooling pattern and the associated atmospheric response. As a result, they do not reproduce the rainfall redistribution seen across India over the past two decades. "The models are not picking this up because they are missing the ocean circulation changes occurring in the North Atlantic," Mahendra said. "Our question was simple: if the models are not capturing these changes now, how can we fully trust their projections for the future? This study identifies where the models are going wrong." According to the researchers, this limitation raises concerns about future monsoon projections, particularly if models continue to underestimate the influence of North Atlantic changes on Asian climate systems.

Mahendra said that climate modelling centres have increasingly begun incorporating North Atlantic variability into their assessments, though its implications for the Indian monsoon have received far less attention than its impacts on Europe and North America.

Implications for India

The findings arrive at a time when India is grappling with increasing weather extremes. Northwest India has experienced several devastating flood events in recent years, while concerns over rainfall deficits and groundwater stress persist in parts of the Indo-Gangetic region. "That is why we are seeing unusually heavy rainfall events in recent years," Mahendra said. "In mountainous regions such as Uttarakhand, intense rainfall can saturate soils and trigger landslides. The same mechanism was evident during some of the recent extreme rainfall events." The study also highlights how climate 'tipping elements' may be interconnected. A weakening AMOC in the North Atlantic - itself considered a potential tipping element - could influence another major climate system, the South Asian monsoon.

The research results were validated by Prof Nagajaru Chilukoti, Assistant Professor, Earth and Atmospheric Sciences, NIT Rourkela and Dr Jasti S Chowdary, a scientist at the Indian Institute of Tropical Meteorology (IITM) and Matthew Huber, a professor in the Department of Earth, Atmospheric, and Planetary Sciences at Purdue University in Indiana.

Brazil-uru!

With the FIFA fever having set in and Brazil facing Haiti today, take a look at why this B'luru neighbourhood has earned the moniker 'Little Brazil'

OVER decades, the neighbourhood of Gowthamapura, known as 'Little Brazil', has transformed into one of the city's most vibrant football hubs – producing national-level players and Olympians and nurturing young talent on its streets. The title was not given officially, nor did it emerge overnight. According to local football enthusiasts, the name reflects the area's love for Brazil, and is a nickname residents wear with pride. "This was named by members of local football clubs almost three decades ago because of the number of footballers we had here. From as long as I can remember, this area was called 'little or mini Brazil'," says Antony Clinton, who played for the Karnataka state team and currently plays for Chikkamagaluru FC. He adds, "The area has around 80,000 residents, and there are easily more than 1,000 footballers. Over 200 have represented Karnataka, and around 100 have played for the country."

Football's influence can be felt everywhere. Children dribble balls through alleys, teenagers gather for informal matches after school. Even late at night, football games continue under streetlights in the nearby ground in the area. "What makes this place unique is that every house has a footballer," highlights Janardhan, who played for Karnataka.

But with many teams playing for the World Cup, what makes Brazil special? "The legendary players of earlier generations were fond of Brazil. Every player in the Brazilian team had a different quality. In the same way, footballers from Gowthamapura are known for their individual abilities," adds Clinton.

Local tournaments are a source of pride but the neighbourhood's passion for football extends far beyond. Janardhan vividly remembers gathering during FIFA World Cups, particularly during Brazil's matches, right from childhood. Like many football communities, Gowthamapura has its own match-day rituals. "Before wearing our boots, we kiss them. And if a jersey brings us luck, we keep wearing it," he says, noting that there would be rallies during every Brazil match at the entrance of Gowthamapura, where stands a memorial with a Pele statue.

Interestingly, while football has traditionally been male-dominated, residents say that is slowly changing, with more girls taking up the sport, inspired by brothers, neighbours and local role models. "There is no gender bias. Girls from this generation are joining, even my daughter has developed an interest in football, seeing her brother. If my son plays football, my daughter should be able to play too," says Karthigeyan, a state player whose twins are both beginning their football journeys. While he is an Argentina supporter and his son, a fan of Ronaldo, in all of them is a part of Little Brazil's streets.

Narayanaswamy Ulaganathan

A Legend is Born

Among notable names associated with the area are Olympian SA Basheer, legendary striker P Kannan celebrated as 'Pele of Asia', known for his prolific goalscoring and Narayanaswamy Ulaganathan. Ulaganathan, who is Clinton's granduncle, represented Karnataka in the Santosh Trophy and later played for the Indian national team. "He remains the only Indian footballer to score a hat-trick in a Durand Cup final and who went on to represent Mohun Bagan, East Bengal and Mohammedan Sporting. He also met Pele when the latter came to Calcutta," shares 31-year-old Clinton who also runs a Brazil-themed 'Clin's Cafe'.

FOCUS FEATURE

From Practice to Profession: The Rise of Yoga Careers in India

Yoga is no longer viewed solely as a path to fitness and well-being. As India celebrates International Yoga Day, a growing number of young people can embrace it as a valuable skill, source of income, and career opportunity. For students especially, yoga offers a unique blend of earning potential and personal growth.

Beyond Gig Work: Building a Skill for Life

While many students take up gig-economy jobs for short-term income, yoga offers a skill that can evolve into a lifelong profession. Through structured training, students can earn while studying by teaching yoga classes. Increasingly, even doctors, physiotherapists, and corporate professionals are exploring yoga as a full-time career, attracted by its purpose, flexibility, and growing opportunities.

The Growing Yoga Economy

Yoga has evolved into a global wellness profession, driven by growing awareness of preventive healthcare and mental well-being. Today, trained instructors are in demand across schools, hospitals, wellness centres, sports academies, and corporate organisations. With specialisations ranging from therapeutic and prenatal yoga to corporate wellness and mindfulness coaching, yoga is increasingly recognised as a serious and rewarding career path.

Technology Opens Global Doors

Technology has opened global opportunities for yoga professionals. Through online classes, virtual workshops, and personalised coaching, instructors can teach students across countries without leaving home. A yoga teacher in India can now reach a worldwide audience, while social media and digital platforms help build personal brands, expand reach, and create flexible income opportunities for both students and professionals.

Professional Training Matters

As demand for yoga instructors increases, so does the need for professional training.

Modern yoga education extends far beyond learning postures. Comprehensive teacher training programs include anatomy and physiology, yoga philosophy, pranayama, meditation techniques, teaching methodology, class planning, alignment principles, and safety practices.

Interestingly, yoga is no longer attracting only fitness enthusiasts. An increasing number of doctors, physiotherapists, healthcare professionals, corporate employees, and entrepreneurs are enrolling in yoga teacher training programs. Some seek a deeper understanding of holistic wellness that complements their existing profession, while others are exploring opportunities to transition into careers that offer greater flexibility, purpose, and work-life balance.

Professional certification helps aspiring instructors gain confidence and credibility while ensuring that students receive safe and effective guidance. Structured training also prepares individuals to teach diverse groups, including children, senior citizens, office-goers, athletes, and individuals with specific health concerns.

For students, yoga teacher training can begin as a part-time pursuit alongside academic studies. After graduation, many choose to transform this skill into a full-time profession, building careers as yoga teachers, wellness coaches, consultants, and trainers.

Entrepreneurship Through Wellness

One of the most attractive aspects of yoga as a profession is the opportunity for entrepreneurship.

Many successful yoga professionals begin with small community classes, apartment sessions, or online programs. Over time, these initiatives can grow into wellness centres, yoga academies, retreat programs, digital learning platforms, and corporate consultancy services. Compared to many traditional businesses, the investment required to start a yoga practice is relatively modest. What matters most is knowledge, consistency, communication skills, and the ability to build trust with students.

For individuals who aspire to be self-employed, yoga offers a pathway that combines purpose with professional independence.

A Career with Purpose

At its core, yoga remains a profession rooted in service. Every class has the potential to improve someone's health, reduce stress, increase confidence, support recovery, and encourage healthier habits.

In a world facing rising levels of anxiety, lifestyle disorders, and sedentary living, yoga professionals play an increasingly important role in promoting holistic well-being. The profession offers a rare combination of financial opportunity and personal fulfilment, allowing individuals to earn a livelihood while making a positive difference in the lives of others. "Many students work hard in temporary jobs simply to earn while they study. There is nothing wrong with that. But if they can invest the same time in learning yoga, they gain something much more valuable - a lifelong skill. Yoga can help them earn, stay healthy, build confidence, and even create a profession of their own. It is one of the few fields where personal growth and professional growth happen together. We are also seeing doctors, physiotherapists, and corporate professionals enrolling for yoga teacher training, recognising the immense opportunities in the wellness sector," says Bharath M. Iyengar, Founder of The Happy Yoga Community.

As India marks another International Yoga Day, the message is clear: yoga is no longer confined to the mat. For many young Indians, it is becoming a pathway to skills, self-reliance, entrepreneurship, and a meaningful career.

Stroke at 30? The Silent Crisis in Young Adults

Authored:
DR. DIVYARAJ
-Senior Physio

Stroke is no longer considered a disease of old age. Doctors are increasingly seeing strokes in people in their 20s, 30s, and 40s, especially in urban India. Stress, long working hours, poor sleep, smoking, obesity, diabetes, and unhealthy lifestyles are major reasons behind this worrying rise.

A stroke occurs when blood supply to the brain is blocked or when a blood vessel bursts. Brain cells begin dying within minutes due to lack of oxygen. Stroke can cause paralysis, speech difficulty, memory loss, imbalance, vision problems, or even death.

The two major types are ischemic stroke, caused by a clot blocking blood flow, and hemorrhagic stroke, caused by bleeding inside the brain.

Doctors advise remembering FAST:

- Face drooping
- Arm weakness
- Speech difficulty
- Time to reach hospital immediately

Other warning signs include sudden severe headache, dizziness, numbness, confusion, or loss of balance.

Stroke is a medical emergency. Early treatment can save brain cells and improve recovery. Unfortunately, many young adults ignore symptoms because they believe they are "too young" for stroke.

Many strokes can be prevented through:

- Regular exercise
- Healthy eating
- Controlling blood pressure and diabetes
- Adequate sleep
- Stress reduction
- Quitting smoking and limiting alcohol

Awareness and early action can save lives and prevent lifelong disability.

The Hidden Message Behind Frequent Headaches

Dr. P.R. Krishnan,
Neurologist
MBBS, MD - General Medicine,
DM - Neurology,
DNB - Neurology

Headaches have become extremely common today due to stress, long screen hours, irregular sleep, dehydration, poor posture, and unhealthy lifestyles. While most headaches are harmless, frequent headaches should never be ignored. The most common types are tension headaches and migraine. Tension headaches usually feel like pressure around the head and are often linked to stress and fatigue. Migraines are typically throbbing headaches associated with nausea, vomiting, and sensitivity to light or sound.

Modern habits such as excessive mobile phone use, skipped meals, poor sleep, and prolonged desk work significantly contribute to recurring headaches. Neck strain and eye strain are also common triggers.

Fortunately, most headaches are not caused by brain tumors or serious neurological disease. However, certain warning signs require urgent medical attention:

- Sudden severe headache
- Weakness of the face, arm, or leg
- Slurred speech
- Fever
- Vision loss
- Seizures
- Persistent vomiting
- Loss of balance

Another hidden problem is overuse of painkillers. Frequent tablet use can itself cause "medication overuse headache," making headaches more frequent over time.

Simple lifestyle measures can reduce headaches significantly:

- Proper sleep
- Hydration
- Regular exercise
- Stress management
- Good posture
- Limiting screen time

Frequent headaches are often the body's way of signalling that something needs attention. Early evaluation and healthier habits can make a major difference.

Weight Loss Injections: Hype or Hope?

Weight loss injections such as semaglutide and tirzepatide have become one of the most discussed medical trends in recent years. These medicines belong to a group called GLP-1 receptor agonists and work by reducing appetite, slowing stomach emptying, and increasing feelings of fullness.

Many patients experience significant weight loss when these medications are combined with healthy diet and exercise. They may also improve blood sugar control, reduce heart risk, and help fatty liver disease.

For people struggling with obesity and obesity-related illnesses, these medicines can be genuinely beneficial. However, they are not magic solutions.

Common side effects include:

- Nausea
- Vomiting
- Constipation
- Diarrhea
- Fatigue
- Loss of appetite

Doctors are also concerned about unsupervised use. Many people obtain these injections online or use them without proper medical advice, increasing the risk of nutritional deficiencies, muscle loss, and unsafe rapid weight loss.

These medications are generally meant for:

- People with obesity
- Overweight individuals with diabetes or hypertension
- Patients who have not responded adequately to lifestyle changes alone

They are not substitutes for healthy habits. Proper diet, exercise, sleep, and stress management remain essential for long-term success.

Used responsibly under medical supervision, these medications can offer real hope. But unrealistic expectations and self-medication can create serious health risks.

FIVE YOGA PRACTICES FOR FULL-BODY STIFFNESS

Full-body stiffness is common after long sitting hours, travel, screen time, poor sleep or reduced movement. The body often feels better when it is moved gently in different directions. The aim is not to force deep stretches, but to open the chest, rotate the spine, lengthen the back body and release the hips and thighs. Try these five practices slowly and stay within a comfortable range.

1. KATI CHAKRASANA (STANDING SPINAL TWIST)
Stand with feet slightly wider than hip-width. Keep the knees soft. Gently turn the body to the right and let the arms move naturally with the twist. Come back to centre and repeat on the left. Do 6 to 8 slow rounds. Avoid jerky movement.

2. STANDING CHEST OPENER
Stand tall and interlock the fingers behind the back. If that feels difficult, hold a towel between the hands. Gently draw the shoulders back and lift the chest slightly. Keep the ribs relaxed and avoid arching the lower back. Stay for 3 to 5 breaths.

3. ARDHA UTTANASANA (HALF FORWARD FOLD)
Stand with feet hip-width apart. Place both hands on a chair. Bend the knees slightly, move the hips back and lengthen the spine. Keep the neck relaxed. Stay for 3 to 5 breaths. This stretches the back, shoulders, hamstrings and calves.

4. TRIKONASANA (TRIANGLE POSE)
Stand with feet about 3 feet apart. Turn the right foot out and the left foot slightly in. Keep both legs active without locking the knees. Place the right hand on the thigh, shin, block or chair. Raise the left arm or keep it on the waist. Do not force the body lower. Repeat on the other side.

5. STANDING THIGH STRETCH
Stand near a wall or chair. Bend one knee and hold the ankle or pant leg. Keep both knees close and the pelvis steady. Do not arch the lower back. Stay for a few breaths and change sides.

Move slowly and breathe normally. If there is sharp pain, dizziness, numbness or discomfort that increases, stop and seek professional advice.

THIS ODE TO DREAMERS NEEDED MORE MOVIE MAGIC

A SHARADHAA

EVERY city has its invisible dreamers. Bengaluru perhaps has more aspiring actors than most cities: those who come to the city, serve tea on film sets, assistant directors juggling odd jobs, and auto drivers who navigate traffic by day and imagine themselves beneath arc lights by night. Dodmansa begins in one such world. Opening with a song set against Kannada Rajyotsava celebrations in Brindavana Nagar, the film introduces Shivu (R Sharath Krishna), an auto driver whose life appears ordinary enough. He ferries passengers, helps friends in need, and carries himself with the easy warmth of someone who has learnt to survive life's disappointments without bitterness. Having grown up as an orphan, Shivu is defined less by ambition than by kindness.

When he accidentally meets Sneha (Reshmaa Lingrajappa), an aspiring actress searching for a foothold in the industry, the film finds its emotional anchor. Their relationship unfolds alongside another narrative involving a filmmaker determined to make a film with newcomers, despite resistance from those who view cinema through the safer lens of marketability. This is where Dodmansa becomes more than a simple romance.

Another engaging thread emerges through the struggling filmmaker's determination to cast fresh faces in his project. For much of its runtime, the film withholds an important truth about Shivu. His biggest dream remains hidden in plain sight. When a late revelation informs us that he had arrived in Bengaluru hoping to become an actor, the moment doesn't function as a twist. Instead, it alters our perspective. Suddenly, Shivu stops being just another protagonist and becomes representative of countless others. How many dreams travel through the city every day unnoticed? How many aspiring actors drive autos, deliver food, or take up temporary jobs while waiting for a call that may never arrive?

Sharath Krishna, who doubles up as actor and director, uses this premise to raise a question Kannada cinema has wrestled with for decades. The industry often speaks about encouraging fresh talent, but who truly gets the opportunity? Is talent alone enough? Or must every newcomer arrive with financial backing, influence, visibility, social-media clout, or industry connections? The film presents this debate through its characters and situations. There is an interesting irony at play here because Dodmansa itself is built largely on fresh faces, effectively practising what it preaches.

Apart from seasoned actor Raja Balawadi, and relatively experienced performers such as Huli Karthik and Reshmaa Lingrajappa, most of the cast are newcomers. Their performances carry an earnestness that works in the film's favour, particularly Sharath Krishna's. The sincerity is evident throughout, even when the screenplay occasionally slips into familiar territory or settles for emotional beats that deserve greater depth and complexity. On the technical front, composers Sreedhar Kashyap and Paul Alex deliver a serviceable soundtrack that supports the narrative. Cinematographer Anand Ilayaraja and editor Vedhik Veera do a competent job, but considering that Dodmansa revolves around an aspiring actor and his cinematic dreams, the film could have benefitted from a more imaginative visual approach and a stronger sense of movie magic. The technical execution remains functional, though it rarely captures the larger-than-life allure that its protagonist longs for.

Yet there is something admirable about the film's conviction. At a time when conversations around cinema are increasingly dominated by opening weekends, box-office projections, and star power, Dodmansa chooses to ask a more fundamental question. Not whether Shivu becomes a hero, but whether cinema still believes in dreamers like him.

Krishna Ajai Rao, Brinda Acharya's romantic drama titled Partner

CE FEATURES

KRISHNA Ajai Rao's upcoming film finally has a title. The actor teams up once again with director Shiva Tejas for the romantic entertainer Partner, which also stars Brinda Acharya as the female lead. With the shooting wrapped up, the makers unveiled the film's first-look poster and officially announced the title. The poster carries the tagline 'Together forever', hinting at a story centred on love, companionship and lifelong bonds. The film is produced by Harish Devitandre under the HPR Enterprises banner and is targeting a theatrical release in August or September.

Partner marks the first on-screen collaboration between Ajai Rao and Brinda Acharya. While Ajai Rao was last seen in Sarala Subbarao, Brinda, known for Kousalya Supraja Rama, was seen in films like X&Y, and Marutha. The project also marks a reunion between the actor and director Shiva Tejas, who previously worked together on Dhairyam (2017). Apart from the lead pair, the film also features Rangayana Raghu, Biradar, Gowrav Shetty, Bhavya Shree and Giri Shivanna in key roles. The technical team includes composer Nakul Abhyankar, cinematographer Sugnan, and editor KM Prakash.

Karavali sets sights on Su From So's winning release date

CE FEATURES

LAST year, July 25 proved to be a significant date for Kannada cinema. At a time when the industry was searching for a much-needed theatrical success, Su From So arrived and emerged as one of the surprise hits of the season. The film not only won appreciation from audiences but also brought renewed confidence to the industry during a challenging phase.

Now, exactly a year later, another Kannada film carrying expectations is set to arrive around the same date. Director Gurudatha Ganiga's Karavali, starring Prajwal Devaraj and Raj B Shetty, has locked July 24 for its theatrical release.

While there is no connection between the two films beyond the release date, the success of Su From So has ensured that July 24 remains a memorable day for Kannada cinema. There is optimism that Karavali could become one of the notable releases of the year.

Speaking about the release, Gurudatha Ganiga says the coincidence is interesting but insists the focus remains on delivering a strong cinematic experience. "We have made an honest film and are confident audiences will enjoy what we have created," he says.

Set against the backdrop of coastal Karnataka, Karavali explores themes rooted in the region's culture and landscape. The story revolves around a conflict between humans and animals and unfolds in a rural setting. Sampada stars as the female lead, while the ensemble cast includes Mithra, Ramesh Indira, and Sridhar in pivotal roles.

Produced under Ganiga Films in association with VK Film Association and presented by KVN Productions, Karavali also features music by Sachin Basrur and cinematography by Abhimanyu Sadanandan.

Heartfelt appeal to the joy of imagination

PRASHANTH VALLAVAN

YOU don't need statistics to realise how, in the last decade, physical toys recorded a massive drop in sales due to children increasingly moving towards screen devices. But why does that matter? TV killed the radio, and the internet killed TV, and so on. Isn't this something similar? But this shift from toys to screens somehow doesn't feel like a simple format change or the natural evolution of a tool. Through an emotional, poignant, and wholesome story, Toy Story 5 addresses these amorphous anxieties of ours, and it does so in a way that it feels like someone finding the exact word we were struggling to remember.

Ever since the first film, Toy Story has always grappled with different forms of existential crisis. We have seen the toys go through the fear of being replaced, of being forgotten, and as Andy grew up, the franchise touched upon the idea of gracefully moving on. Toy Story 5 is more than just about toys being made irrelevant by technology. It's about the importance of play, the diminishing role of imagination, and why that matters, and the value of building in-person connections. However, the film is far from a tech alarmist cautionary tale. Everything great and unique about classic Pixar storytelling is on glorious display here. It is heartwarming to see the toys show care and affection to their humans. Forget the signature third-act Pixar emotional gut punch. Every time the toys yearn to play with their kid, when they go on daring adventures to make them smile again, or when they are all giddy with happiness just looking at old pictures of their kid, you can't help but feel that we are witnessing one of the purest, unadulterated portrayals of love on screen. It is not the care and affection of a parent towards their children or someone's feelings for their significant other; these are toys pouring love from the bottom of their plastic hearts, and yet, somehow, you get it. Whether that is the power of storytelling or the power of love, Toy Story 5 is a fine example either way.

RATING 3.5/5

While franchise stars Woody (Tom Hanks) and Buzz Lightyear (Tim Allen) are relegated to supporting roles, Jessie the cowgirl ragdoll (Joan Cusack) takes the lead, as she, along with the rest of the toys, helps Bonnie (Scarlett Spears) find new friends while also trying to stop her addiction to a tablet called LilyPad. The film never misses a chance to land a joke, and it always does so without using it as a tool to undercut an emotional scene. It reminds you of the early golden age of Pixar. At the beginning, we see how, except for a few like Bonnie, every kid seems to be absorbed by screens, and soon, Bonnie feels left out. We see a cultural shift in which kids playing with toys are seen as weirdos, while the default mode of friendship seems to blossom entirely through chatbots and mobile games. It was wonderful to see the film subtly highlighting reading as an indicator of a healthy childhood. Towards the end, the film inevitably makes the compromise we expected, wherein the toys and the devices find a way to work together for the child's happiness. It felt like a surrender to the fact that we cannot entirely wipe out screens from our lives. Even as we get attached and feel happy for the characters at the end, the film has nevertheless opened up a lot of discussions around technology's overwhelming presence, and leaves it unfinished. Even Pixar's signature warmth struggles to mask the bleakness of the complex theme it has chosen to explore this time.

In what it succeeds, however, Toy Story 5 succeeds tremendously. When we see Bonnie playing with her friend, imagining whimsical, adventurous tales, starring their toys, you get a glimpse of the richness of imagination and how it helps us connect with others in a way that screens are yet to offer. After all, the screens are competing with thousands of years of evolution. The beauty of Toy Story 5 does not lie in one-dimensional technology bashing, but in showing us the power and the joy of conjuring entire worlds through imagination.

The Silent Health Issue Women Shouldn't Ignore

Women's health today extends beyond pregnancy, childbirth, gynecological disorders, and fertility issues. Increasingly, intimate wellness is being recognised as an essential part of a woman's physical, emotional, and social well-being. Yet concerns such as vaginal laxity after childbirth, vaginal dryness, urinary incontinence, discomfort during intimacy, reduced sexual satisfaction, and age-related changes continue to affect many women. Unfortunately, stigma and lack of awareness often prevent them from seeking medical help.

According to Dr. Devika Gunasheela, Managing Director and Gynecologist, Gunasheela Surgical and Maternity Hospital, Bengaluru, intimate wellness deserves to be viewed as an integral part of holistic healthcare.

"Women are increasingly prioritising their physical fitness and mental well-being, but intimate health is still often overlooked despite its significant influence on comfort, confidence, relationships, and overall quality of life. It is time we normalise these conversations and encourage women to seek help without hesitation," she says.

Dr. Ashwini Nagaraj

Dr. Devika Gunasheela notes that modern gynecology evolves far beyond treating gynecological disorders and fertility issues.

"At our Gunasheela Women's Intimate Wellness Centre, we meet women of all age groups with concerns that significantly affect their daily lives. Many are surprised to learn that safe and effective treatment options are available for problems they believe they have to live with permanently," she says.

One of the most common concerns is the physical changes that occur after childbirth. Dr. Ashwini Nagaraj, Gynecologist, Gunasheela Surgical and Maternity Hospital, explains that natural delivery can sometimes affect pelvic support structures and tissue elasticity, leading to discomfort and reduced confidence.

"Fortunately, medical advancements now make it possible to address many of these concerns through non-surgical and minimally invasive treatments," she says.

Dr. Ashwini explains that advanced laser therapies, Platelet-Rich Plasma (PRP) therapy, and other regenerative treatments help improve tissue health, restore elasticity, manage vaginal dryness and urinary incontinence, and improve comfort during intercourse.

She adds that selected women may also benefit from G-shot (G-spot amplification), a minimally invasive procedure using a hyaluronic acid-based filler designed to improve sensitivity and enhance sexual satisfaction.

She further notes that women experiencing discomfort due to enlarged or asymmetrical inner labial folds can benefit from procedures such as labioplasty.

"Modern treatments focus on restoring function, improving comfort, and enhancing intimate well-being with minimal downtime. Every woman is unique, and the right treatment is recommended only after a detailed medical evaluation and counselling," Dr. Ashwini says.
